

HOW far we are from the "trust busting" era! President Coolidge is urging the railroads to consolidate, and only hoping that they will do it voluntarily, so that he will not have to resort to law to compel them. And yet the time when such mergers were wicked and criminal is so near that the man who made a reputation as Roosevelt's most efficient trust buster is still active enough to be secretary of state.

It is the final triumph and acceptance of the principle of public regulation. Monopoly could always be more efficient and economical than competitive individualism—if it would. But, left to itself, it never would. So while we finally regulated railroads by law, we were distrustful enough of our own regulations to insist on the old automatic regulation of competition too. Now we know better. We know that public regulation can regulate, and we trust it to do so. We therefore insist on the economies of relative monopoly, well knowing that we can assure ourselves of the benefits of the savings.

Join the lines, strong and weak, profitable and losing, useful and misplaced, in a few systems, competing with other systems only in service and inside the system not at all, and we have a situation in which transportation costs the railroads what it must. Then we will see to it that it costs us no more.

FINDING any way to subsidize the poor except at their own expense is a hard search. The British coal mine workers demand, and are probably entitled to, a wage which the mines themselves cannot pay out of the present prices of coal. It is proposed to subsidize the industry, at other people's expense, to keep it going. So the chancellor of the exchequer considers raising the money to pay the workmen's wages by taxing the workmen's beer. Of course, any individual worker can avoid the tax by not drinking beer.

But no one who knows the British workers expects them to do that. It simply means that all the workers, by extra prices on beer, shall pay for the extra beer of part of the workers. Few cases are as clear as this, but the "rich" work out about the same. The worker is the chief loser by excessive or demagogic taxes.

THERE was a time when the remedy for overpopulation was immigration. The development of America extended that time for about a century. But now it is ended. Unfortunately, some of the overpopulated nations have not found this out. Count Antonio Cipicco, at the Williamson Institute, voiced this demand on the part of Italy. Representatives of China and Japan made the same plea at the conference of the Pacific Institute. They all overlooked the fact that the remedy, even if any longer available, would not now relieve the situation.

And they all demand that, of all the weapons at the disposal of peoples, "gunpowder" alone shall be restricted. Against guns, we are free to use guns. Against economic undercutting, we are free to use tariffs. Against the Royalist propaganda of a hundred years ago, or the Bolshevik propaganda of the present, we may use laws to defend our institutions.

But if any people chooses to overbreed, the demand is that nations who do not do so shall turn over to them, unresisted, their own pasture grounds. It cannot be admitted. In the competition of nations, the more efficient will not surrender supinely to the more fecund.

Actor, Actress Are Robbed By Tuxedo Bandits

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—Four tuxedo-clad bandits, their faces covered with white silk handkerchiefs, held up and robbed Elizabeth Maroney, actress, and her escort, Karl Kane, film actor, early today, escaping with a small amount of loot.

After "frisking" the couple of their pocket change, the bandits unrolled Miss Maroney's stockings in search of hidden jewelry. When Kane protested, he was knocked down.

The robbery took place on the actress's front porch. Girls in the Studio club, adjoining Miss Maroney's home, were aroused by the disturbance, and peered down on the scene from their windows. They notified police, who arrived too late to be of aid.

Miss Maroney lost a pearl necklace. Kane was robbed of his cigarette case, pearl stickpin and some change.

POSSES HUNT ESCAPED CONVICTS

Music Composer May Die As Feud Result

MUSTOL WILL LOSE SIGHT OF ONE EYE

Condition of High School Band, Orchestra Leader Declared to Be Critical

GOETZE OUT ON BOND

Mayhem Charge Filed, Following Neighbors' Clash On Highway Near Orana

UPON THE OUTCOME of injuries received by Samuel J. Mustol, well known Santa Ana music director, who is in a critical condition at a local hospital today, following a sensational personal combat with Carl Goetze, his neighbor, rests Goetze's prospect of facing prosecution for alleged mayhem or manslaughter.

The mayhem charge already has been filed. Mustol being certain to lose the use of one eye, it is claimed. Fears that the injured man may die, as expressed today by attending physicians, gave rise to the prospect of the more serious charge. Goetze is at liberty under $10,000 bail, with preliminary hearing of the mayhem charge set for August 27 at 10 a. m., before Justice K. E. Morrison.

Mrs. Mustol Beaten
When Mustol and Goetze, who are neighbors, both poultry fanciers, a battery charge, a Mustol home note, clashed on the state highway near Orana yesterday, in view of passing traffic, which narrowly avoided the combatants, Mustol and his wife, Mrs. Marion Mustol, were both roughly handled, they declared. In addition to the mayhem charge, Mrs. Mustol has filed a battery charge against Goetze. He knocked her down when she interfered to protect her husband, according to her account of the affair. When she fell on the pavement, a passing automobile missed her by inches, she declared.

Two conflicting versions of the encounter, which may cost Mustol his life, confront the authorities in their investigation of the case. Mustol and Goetze each accuses the other of being aggressor in the clash.

Goetze, it is said, contends that he and his wife, driving along the highway between Orana and the county hospital, were followed by Mrs. and Mrs. Mustol in their car. Stopping to see what his neighbor wanted, he was subjected to a volley of verbal abuse from Mustol, Goetze claimed. When he approached Mustol, the latter kicked him in the groin, Goetze claimed, whereupon Goetze retaliated with his fists.

Denies Striking Blow
Mustol, on the other hand, claims that he did not strike a blow at Goetze or make a threatening move of any sort. The Mustols admitted that they had followed Goetze, after seeing him follow a sister of Mrs. Mustol, and her husband, who, that couple left the Mustol home. They found that Goetze had overtaken and stopped the relatives near a fruit stand on the highway between Orana and the county hospital, they said.

When they inquired of Mrs. Mustol's sister what Goetze had been saying, they were informed, they claimed, that Goetze had been telling the sister that Mrs. Mustol had been "talking about her."

Mustol thereupon reproved Goetze, he said, and Goetze flashed into anger and attacked him. When Mrs. Mustol intervened, Goetze turned upon her, she told the authorities.

Goetze, a man of brawny physique, had no difficulty in overwhelming his slight opponent. Mustol was rushed to the hospital after the fight, his left eye so badly injured that physicians say it cannot be saved. If meetings should develop, as feared, Mustol probably will die, they state. It will be several days, according to the physicians, before Mustol's prospects can be gauged.

Authorities Open Probe
Weighing the two versions of the clash, as presented to them, the authorities are making a thorough investigation of the case, particularly with reference to rumors of "bad blood" having existed between the two neighbors for some time.

Mustol is director of music in the city schools and is leader of the high school band and orchestra. He has some prominence as a composer. At his home, 3023 North Main street, he raises pigeons and is a director of the utility division of the Southern California Pigeon association.

Goetze, whose ranch is situated just north of the Mustol place, on Main street, also is a poultry fancier and likewise a composer. He is an ex-service man, who served 22 months in France, and acted as music director at Camp Kearney.

MARY'S EX-GODFATHER TO RELATE CINDERELLA STORY

Browning Promises Startling Revelations in Adoption Case

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Mary Spas may yet achieve the Cinderella role to which she aspired, a statement prepared by Edward W. Browning today indicated.

If the girl, who was adopted by the millionaire and then returned to her Astoria home, conducts herself with propriety and heeds advice of those who wish her well, according to the statement, she can have most of the things promised her by her foster-father of a week.

The statement did not say how Mary was to achieve the rewards of Cinderella, but presumably the millionaire intends to make a settlement upon her in some manner.

Meanwhile, Browning has gone back to reading applications from girls wishing to be adopted.

When Mary was apprised of the contents of the statement Browning had prepared, she answered that she "had no ambition to be Cinderella any more."

"All I want to do is to clear my name," she said.

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Having abdicated the throne on which he sat for a week as fairy godfather, Edward Browning, millionaire, today promised to tell the "inside story" of the Cinderella case which 21-year-old Mary Spas won—and lost.

Browning and his attorney, Francis C. Dale, have prepared a statement on the sensational case which the wealthy says he will use as the basis for a $500,000 criminal libel suit against the New York newspaper that is publishing the alleged story of Mary's adventures as Cinderella.

Sensation Is Promised
"My story will throw an entirely different light on this case," Browning told the United Press. "I shall go back to the very beginning and make some startling revelations. My statement also extends what action I intend to take in connection with the scandalous tales that have been published about me."

While Browning was preparing to open his counter-attack, Mary remained barricaded in the humble Astoria home to which she disappeared after being stripped of her Cinderella frills and furbelows.

Only one person outside her family—a policeman—has been in her home since Mary sought refuge with her parents. Broken in spirit, she was lying on a bed, sobbing convulsively when the officer entered the apartment, bringing the family food.

Now Wears Plain Dress
The girl, who for a week sported the costliest finery that Fifth avenue could afford, was wearing a plain white dress, partly hidden beneath the folds of a faded lavender kimono. Her hair, once curly, was disheveled, and her face, once wreathed in smiles, was lined and drawn, according to the policeman.

Since the girl's triumphant return, the chrome-colored tenement house in which she lives has been surrounded by hundreds of neighbors. "Cinderella Mary" they call her now, and she is even more popular today than before the fairy story fiasco. The Wilson avenue folk have nothing but admiration for the girl who was an heiress for a week.

Eskimo Quartet Heard Over Radio
CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—An Eskimo quartet, singing folk songs within 11 degrees of the north pole, entertained a little group of radio enthusiasts at the Arlington Heights radio experiment station here last night. Loud and clear, the guttural music came through the air and listeners declared the test a success.

The music was broadcast from the deck of the ship Peary, of the MacMillan arctic expedition. The ship station is WAP and broadcasts on a wave length of 40 meters.

Diseased Cattle Are to Be Killed
HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 13.—Slaying of 4000 head of cattle in the newly-afflicted foot and mouth area will begin today, according to Dr. Marion Imes, U. S. expert in charge of the quarantine here. The cattle are valued at approximately $120,000, which loss will be paid by the state and federal governments.

Bandit Steals Negro Cop's Badge and Gun

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Walter Coleman, negro policeman, headed a posse of 15 fellow officers today in an earnest search for the bandit who relieved him of his pistol and badge.

The dark officer, in full uniform, accosted a "suspicious" character on the street. Two minutes later Coleman had been relieved of his badge, his revolver and notebook.

TURKS CROSS FRONTIER TO PERSIAN SOIL

LONDON, Aug. 13.—An unconfirmed Central News Dispatch from Constantinople today said that a Turkish detachment had crossed the frontier and occupied Persian territory. Persia was reported to have sent a protest against this action to the Ankara regime. Details were lacking.

REVOLT ON FRONT IN SYRIA SPREADS
LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Central News' Constantinople correspondent, quoting Adana reports, says that the Druse revolt in the French Syrian mandate is spreading.

The French were reported fearing that the neighboring Arab tribesmen would also rise. The Druse clansmen were reported to have defeated a battalion of 500 Armenian volunteers. The situation at Damascus was characterized as disquieting. French Algerian troops, arriving at Beirut, were reported to have mutilated, whereupon they were re-embarked.

The message added that the Druse rebels are killing French prisoners in revenge for alleged French wounding of Druse sheiks.

Too Many Goats; Divorce Is Sought

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13.—Because his wife's goats "got his goat," Ernest Mortlock today filed suit for divorce, alleging extreme cruelty.

After 21 years of married bliss, Mrs. Mortlock told her husband that if he was not satisfied with the herd of goats she maintained, he could leave, the petition avers. "She told me she thought more of the goats than of me," Mortlock set forth in his complaint.

Steak Is Ahead By 14,000 In Recount
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Daniel F. Steck, Democrat, increased his lead over Senator Smith W. Brookhart, when recount of 46 counties, announced by the state recount committee, today, showed.

Steck, 198,686. Brookhart, 184,526. Two counties completed since yesterday are Linn and Louisa. Linn gave Steck a big majority.

Thus far 1025 Steck ballots and 3299 Brookhart ballots have been counted and none of them have been counted.

LADY NICOTINE WILL NO LONGER GRACE ATMOSPHERE AT KIWANIS' SESSIONS
When the Santa Ana Kiwanians meet next Wednesday at their regular noonday meal at St. Ann's Inn, they will be denied, as a result of a vote taken at yesterday's luncheon meeting, the customary privilege of enjoying a select Havana, a pipe, or even a few puffs on a cigaret.

The situation will prevail from the time that the luncheon meeting is opened with the first verse of America, until it is adjourned by the presiding officer.

The anti-smoking rule was adopted following an impromptu address by Benjamin R. Ford, who, after voicing his opinion of the "vicious weed," told his fellow Kiwanians that he, as well as many other members, were unpleasantly affected by the large volume of tobacco smoke that gathered during the luncheon hour.

While a considerable number of the members present, particularly the younger element among the business men, sporting "college" pipes and handsome cigaret cases, failed to evince any visible enthusiasm over the proposed anti-tobacco edict, they abstained from offering any organized opposition, and the "ayes" had it when the proposition was put to a vote.

The chivalrous attitude on the part of the followers of Lady Nicotine might have been due to the fact that references were to "ladies" and "visiting guests" in urging the adoption of the rule, it was said.

NEW FUNDING OFFER MADE TO BELGIUM

Brussels Delegation Submits Proposition to Home Government for Orders CUT IN INTEREST RATE

Washington Conference on Big War Debt Adjourned Till Word from Abroad

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—After receiving a new funding proposition from the American debt funding commission the Belgian delegation today secured adjournment of the debt meeting until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, in order to communicate it to their government for instructions.

The Belgians asked the American commission to calculate the accrued interest on the Belgian obligation since its contraction at 3 1/2 or 4 per cent instead of five per cent, but the Americans refused.

They agreed to reduce it to 4 1/4 percent, as was done for the British, but refused to go below that figure.

The plea for a lower interest rate on the $480,000,000 Belgian debt was presented by the Belgian funding commission at resumption of the meeting with the American commission today. Belgians contended that the rate of 5 per cent, fixed in the original loan, represented the reasonable interest rate at that time.

The interest on the Belgian obligation calculated at 5 per cent amounts to $110,000,000, thus far. The drop would lop off from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000. The original 5 per cent on the British debt was cut to 4 1/4 per cent when funding of the British obligation was undertaken. Further payments will be made at a rate reduced still further.

Dry Fanatic Is Nabbed In Plot To Slay Mellon

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 13.—Will K. Reeme, ardent prohibition fanatic, was arrested here today on information furnished by the treasury department that he had written a threatening letter to Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon.

Several years ago, Reeme was arrested on a similar charge. He is a fanatical dry advocate, police say.

Reeme readily admitted he planned to slay Mellon, declaring the secretary was responsible for "conditions." Reeme added that he was "instructed by God" to take Mellon's life.

Apartment House Damaged by Fire
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—After driving a score of tenants to the streets in filmy night-clothing, flames of strange origin swept the Garfield apartments here early today, causing several thousand dollars damage.

Mrs. Lee Overman, landlady, said the blaze started in an empty apartment. When she sounded the alarm the guests were sleeping, and panic-stricken, went scurrying to the streets.

Firemen brought the blaze under control after an hour of fighting.

Give Warning On Child Paralysis
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13.—With a total of 440 cases of infantile paralysis reported since the first of the year, state health officers have issued another warning to physicians and nurses. Instructions to report all suspected cases of the disease to the state board of health immediately and to quarantine all such cases, are contained in this week's health bulletin.

Giant Coal Merger In South Proposed
LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 13.—A $500,000,000 merger of West Virginia and Kentucky coal interests "to minimize labor and economic troubles," is proposed in questionnaires sent to operators by J. E. Johnson, secretary of the Coal Operators exchange. It was learned today. The fields covered by the proposed consolidation have a combined annual output of 150,000,000 tons.

Will Not Aid Strikers.
GREENEY, Colo., Aug. 13.—Clarence Darrow, spending his vacation with his son, Paul Darrow, denied a report that he would represent the striking coal miners at Fenitista, Okla.

INVALID MOTHER SLAYS HUSBAND, DAUGHTER, SELF

Woman in Massachusetts on Wholesale Shooting Rampage

(By United Press)
BOSTON, Aug. 13.—After carefully writing out a note which read: "I did this to leave them all in peace," Mrs. George H. Curtis, 44, of West Roxbury, early today killed her husband while he slept in bed, shot down two of her children, George Jr., 20, and Marjorie, 7, and then committed suicide.

Curtis, who was 45 years old and the son of Fayette Curtis, president of the former Boston Terminal company, was killed instantly.

Mrs. Curtis, a partial invalid, also died instantly. Marjorie died later in Boston City hospital from effects of a .32 caliber bullet in the head.

George Jr., also wounded in the head, has only a fighting chance for life.

A second daughter, Dorothy, 18, owes her life to the fact that she delayed answering a summons from her mother to "come down quick."

John Curtis, 21, a son, member of the marine corps, stationed at the naval flying field, Lakehurst, N. J., was not at home.

Reports of the fatal shots frightened Dorothy into delaying several minutes before going to the first floor of the home from a second-floor bedroom.

Mrs. Curtis was said to have been a partial paralytic and to have suffered a slight shock several weeks ago.

The tragedy was reported by Dorothy to the police. On reaching the first floor of the home, she told police, she found her father dead in bed, her mother dead on the floor and her brother and sister wounded. They were in their respective rooms.

EARTHQUAKE HITS MONTANA TOWNS
BOZEMAN, Mont., Aug. 13.—Residents in the Big Belt mountain district still had some misgivings today, following a tremor last night which affected the area devastated by the quake six weeks ago.

The shock occurred at 7:50 p. m., and rattled dishes, and hanging objects swung perceptibly. Reports from Manhattan, Logan and Three Forks said plaster was knocked from some walls and there was other evidence of quakes. No serious damage was reported, however.

The tremors were reported throughout the Gallatin and Shields valleys.

Navy Destroyers To Guard Flight
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Two naval destroyers, the William Jones and McCawley, will be assigned to guard the proposed air flight of planes from San Francisco to Hawaii, scheduled to start September 2, the navy department announced today. Complete radio compass and radio communication tests between the planes and destroyers will be worked out prior to the hop-off and later the two ships will take positions in the Pacific to give any possible assistance to the flyers.

Pickford Case Is In Hands of Jury
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—The Mary Pickford kidnapping trial, after weeks of hectic testimony, went to a jury in superior court here late today. The jurors are to decide the fate of Adrian Wood, Charles Stevens and Claude Holcomb, accused of conspiring to kidnap the actress and hold her for $200,000 ransom.

U. S. Foreign Trade Shows Growth

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—United States increased $596,690,364 thus far this year, compared with the corresponding period last year, the department of commerce announced today. Imports were valued at $2,339,758,451 and exports at $2,701,478,003, leaving a favorable balance of trade of $311,709,552.

TERROR REIGNS WHEN VOLCANO BELCHES FORTH

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A volcano on the island of Santorin, according to the Exchange Telegraph's Athens correspondent, has become active after being dormant since 1866.

The population, in panic, is evacuating the region. The eruptions are now in their third day. Earthquake shocks at Smyrna, 10 days ago, are believed by experts to have been the precursor of volcanic activity.

Santorin lies in the Cyclades group of islands, off the mainland of Greece. It is a small island with vineyards.

FIRE SITUATION IN FORESTS IMPROVES

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—All though weather conditions gave some respite from the high fire danger in Oregon forests, the situation was still precarious, with several new fires burning today.

A number of fires still were burning in Washington forests today and were out of control.

A new fire broke out near Snoqualmie, on the Skrykmish river, and along the Index-Galena railroad.

Assistant Supervisor Billingslea was injured while fighting the flames on Little Quilcene river. He was taken to the marine hospital at Port Townsend.

Gravel augmented crews are making good headway in most of the forest fires in Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington. Many blazes are under control, but dense smoke clouds for hundreds of miles prevented accurate observation by air controls.

Cashier Shoots Armed Bandit
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—One of two armed bandits, attempting to hold up a bakery here early today, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Hans Gawellek, night cashier.

The men escaped, the uninjured bandit covering the retreat with a hail of bullets.

Gawellek brushed aside a revolver thrust in his side and opened fire with an automatic pistol. When it jammed, he fired a shotgun load into the abdomen of one of the robbers.

Desperadoes Kill Guards, Flee Prison
Three Dead As Result of Carefully Planned Break At Oregon Penitentiary
ONE BAD MAN IS SLAIN
Cut Hole in Roof, Descend By Rope, and Get Away In Commandeered Taxi
(By United Press)
SALEM, Ore., Aug. 13.—One of the most spectacular man hunts Oregon has ever witnessed was under way today in the Waldo hills, rendezvous of fleeing men.

Three desperate criminals, who succeeded in getting away in last night's prison break after two guards and another convict were killed, were last seen about two miles east of Pratum, heading for the Cascade foothills. Each was armed.

On their trail were some 50 deputy sheriffs, police, guards of the Oregon penitentiary and militia detachments from Salem and Silverton, all ready to shoot to kill.

The convict trio comprises Tom Murray, 20; Elmer Kelly, 27; and James Wilcox, 26. The former two figured in a spectacular prison break last year.

3 Killed in Riot
In the riot last night, the killed were:
J. M. HOLMAN, guard, 62 years old.
JOHN SWEENEY, guard, 60.
BERT "OREGON" JONES, 21, prisoner.
Lute Savage, another guard, was seriously wounded, and James Nesmith, turnkey, was badly beaten.

The four prisoners, by a pre-arranged plan, dropped out of the mess line when the call for supper was sounded and made their way to the top of the cell cages in the north wing.

Cutting a hole through the plank roof with tools they had stolen from the prison shops, they got out on the administration building and descended to the outside prison yard with the aid of a rope.

They then rushed the turnkey's office, overpowered Nesmith and each took a rifle.

Killed Two Guards
Guards started firing from both sides, while the prisoners rushed the north guardhouse tower. There Holman and Sweeney were killed and Savage wounded.

Warden A. M. Dalrymple appeared in his quarters with a shotgun and wounded one or two of the prisoners, while another guard, John Davidson, killed "Oregon" Jones, just as he sprang from the prison wall.

The three other convicts ran under a fusillade of fire to the state hospital for the insane, several hundred yards north, where they commandeered a taxi driven by Zins Zinn, and occupied by C. V. Ivitts. These two were forced to accompany the fugitives in a mad race from the hospital grounds.

The taxi rushed through the streets of Salem and was believed to have crossed the Willamette river into Polk county, until Zinn Gawellek, night cashier.

The men escaped, the uninjured bandit covering the retreat with a hail of bullets.

Gawellek brushed aside a revolver thrust in his side and opened fire with an automatic pistol. When it jammed, he fired a shotgun load into the abdomen of one of the robbers.

Two Prisoners Wounded.
Zinn said one of the prisoners, presumably Murray, was badly wounded in the abdomen and another was shot in the arm. He said the men made off together for the eastward, leaving Ivitts and himself tied up.

"Oregon" Jones had a long prison record and was known as desperate. He was serving a 20-year sentence from Josephine county for assault and robbery. He was the ringleader of a break March 28, 1924, in which six convicts escaped, all of whom were subsequently recaptured. Jones was taken at Sacramento this spring and was the last involved in that break to be captured.

Murray was also a ringleader of last year's escape. He was serving two sentences aggregating 20 years for participation in a bank robbery at Florence, Ore.

Wilcox was serving a sentence for burglary not to exceed seven years, having been committed from Umatilla county.

Kelly, a Josephine county prisoner, had been sentenced to serve not to exceed 20 years for aiding in a jail break.

The prison break is probably the most bloody which has occurred in the Pacific northwest since Harry Tracy and Earl Campbell made their sensational escape more than two decades ago. At that time, several persons and finally the two convicts were killed.

FOUR FLEE SANTA CLARA COUNTY JAIL.
SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 13.—Four prisoners who escaped from the Santa Clara county jail during the night of August 12, were being sought today.

GARDEN GROVE YOUTH HURT IN CORNER CRASH

W. C. Hill, Garden Grove youth, is reported to be in a serious condition in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, from injuries suffered at 2:50 yesterday afternoon, at Tenth and Main streets, when the motor cycle he was riding crashed into an automobile driven by Lois M. Lentz, 30, 929 Spurgeon street.

Hill is suffering from severe cuts and bruises, it was said. According to witnesses, the Lentz machine was turning east on Tenth street, from North Main street, when the motorcycle, traveling north on Main street, crashed into the rear of the automobile.

A report of the accident was made at the police station last night by Lois Lentz.

RIVERSIDE.—A pageant depicting the advance of Southern California's civilization, from the days of the Indians, De Anza expedition and Franciscan fathers to the modern period, will be a prominent part of the Southern California fair, September 23 to October 6, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committees in the fair offices. Details of the pageant will be revealed within the next week, according to President John E. Wherry of the fair association. The executive committee will be in charge of the spectacle, which will be given every night during fair week, and on Sunday afternoon. Several hundred persons costumed in colorful Spanish, Indian and pioneer outfits will take part in the seven episodes and nine scenes comprising the pageant. The spectacle is expected by fair officials to be one of the big drawing cards of the Southland exposition this year.

RIVERSIDE.—Watched with suspicion by perplexed entomologists, but much at home in their immediate environment—boxes of dates from their homeland, hundreds of tiny insects put in their appearance yesterday at the office of Horticultural Commissioner A. E. Bittel. The insects, so far unidentified, but believed to be the first of the kind in California, were found in six boxes of dates, sent from an Egyptian city to a student here. The dates were confiscated at the local postoffice by inspectors of the horticultural commissioner's office, who, by this action, possibly nipped in the beginning the spread of a new date pest in California.

SAN DIEGO.—According to E. B. Tilton, assistant superintendent of San Diego's school system, out of a list of 33 cities with a population of more than 100,000, San Diego stands second in the number of students who continue their school work from the elementary schools to the high schools. The statistics show that 90 per cent of pupils graduating from grammar schools in this city carry on their studies in the high schools. Tilton said the junior high school is responsible for the interest in high school education because it creates an intermediate step from the grammar school to the senior high school. Seattle is said to lead the percentage of students in the senior high schools and heads the list.

POMONA.—Pomona's new high school is virtually earthquake proof according to a letter received by the Pomona board of education and read at a meeting of the board. Superintendent Whaley exhibited newspaper clippings of expert reports on the condition of the new high school at Santa Barbara built under the superintendency of W. H. Weeks, Oakland architect, who built the Pomona high school. The reports state that the Santa Barbara structure showed "no sign of cracks or damage." The reports were made by eminent architects and engineers who went to the stricken city to study the effect of the shocks on various types of buildings. President Hartman of the school board, stated that he had gone to Santa Barbara shortly after the quake. He was interested to know the condition of the new high school for the reason that he knew it to be the same type of structure and designed and constructed under the supervision of the same architect as the Pomona high school. Mr. Hartman said there was no apparent damage by the quake.

WAR STARTED ON SODA FOUNTAINS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Accused of serving customers their liquid refreshments with insanitary drinking glasses, 23 downtown soda fountains were named in complaints filed at the city prosecutor's office here.

Fifty persons were involved in the complaints, issued on information gathered by a small army of city health department inspectors. The Owl drug stores and the Belmont near-beer palace, at a busy downtown corner, were among the establishments hit by the sanitation operatives.

"We intend to make a clean sweep of the city and close up any place that fails to comply with the sterilization ordinance," declared City Inspector Nance. "We are out to protect the Los Angeles public and see to it that food and drink served them at public places are served in a sanitary way."

Bomb Squadron Will Be Added To Plane Fleet

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13.—Plans for the addition of a bombing and utility squadron to the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet here have been announced by Capt. Stanford E. Moses, commander of the battle fleet air squadrons, who has just arrived to superintend details of the proposed San Francisco-Hawaiian flight.

The new squadrons will be composed of the latest type of fighting planes, Captain Moses said. Naval aviation forces are preparing for full tactical and firing maneuvers on the most extensive scale ever attempted here.

PARK QUESTION DISCUSSED BY CHAMBER BOARD

Committee reports, relating to parks and playgrounds and industrial projects; discussion of tax problems; financing of the Santa Ana Municipal band, and sundry matters came before the chamber of commerce directors at the regular board meeting held this morning in the chamber offices.

In the absence of President O. A. Haley, Second Vice President George Dunton presided over the meeting. Considerable discussion centered itself about recommendations contained in a committee report presented by Frank C. Pope and L. L. Archibald, relating to purchase of certain properties suitable for park purposes. The report covered a certain piece of property located in the northwestern section of the city, and two pieces located in the southeastern section.

Prices prohibitive Because of the prohibitive prices asked for the properties in the southeastern section, no serious consideration was given the recommendations of the committee. On the other hand, the majority of the directors seemed to be favorably impressed with the report on the property located in the northwestern section. At the suggestion of Director W. N. Vandermast, it was decided to postpone action on the committee report until the directors have had an opportunity of inspecting the property.

Other directors voiced the opinion that first consideration in matter of park requirements should be given to the southeastern section. Those living in the northwestern section have their own beach for week-end outings, it was contended.

Director Clyde C. Downing suggested that no action be taken by the chamber until the legal status of the properties in question, including wells and water rights, has been examined. A thorough investigation of the California tax laws, having particular reference to income and inheritance taxes, was recommended by the directors for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not they compare favorably with those of Florida. In this connection, the secretary was instructed to communicate with the California Taxation Improvement association.

The charge was made that California has been given a considerable amount of unfavorable publicity in this regard when, as a matter of fact, it is cheaper to probate an estate in California than it is in Florida.

Secretary A. L. Olliger was instructed to attend the next regular meeting of the Pacific Coast Regional Advisory board, to be held August 21, in San Francisco.

Co-operating with other civic and service organizations, the board endorsed the "Save the Band" benefit dance, to be held Thursday night, August 27, in Balboa.

The WELL DRESSED MAN
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

HARKING BACK TO THE HUGUENOTS

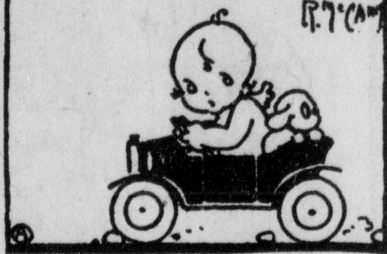

Some supercilious foreigner hits off, to his own satisfaction, the supposed difference between the American and the English viewpoint. The American, remarks this foreigner, thinks his is the greatest country—and talks about it. The Englishman knows that his is the greatest country, but he doesn't think it worth while mentioning. How amazingly concise and convincing—maybe. The moss-backed maxim that "they do things so much better abroad" is often only the expression of flunkysm, but it is undeniably true as applied to some articles of dress. Foulard, for instance, is a cravat silk still high in vogue for summer wear. It is light, cool and takes a smart, snug knot. Because of its wavy construction, it rebounds from rumpling. Foulard is a printed, not woven, silk in plain said to be about to go, but, like or twilled effects. It is always said to be about to go, but, like the homesome visitor glued to your chair, it's always going and never gone.

Spitalfields, a district of London in the western part of the borough of Stepney, produces, perhaps, the finest foulard scarf silks in the world. These are the handiwork of descendants of the French Huguenots, who fled to England after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685. Thus an aureole of rich romance hovers about Spitalfields foulards, the fame of which grides the globe. Macintosh, in Cheshire, England is another center internationally noted for the remarkably fine, firm texture of its foulard cravat silks. Three patterns are shown here. The first is a four-leaf clover design. The center one shows a wavy diamond spot of great size. The third a zig-zag, "struck-by-lightning" effect. All these hand-blocked foulards are characteristic of the unconventional type of patterns to be met in summer scarfs which, by general agreement, none can surpass in their class.

To be sure, you can choose other cool silks besides foulards—Irish poplins, French crepes, failles, washable linens and even ginghams. Many of these introduce those splashy colorful effects in highly contrasting colors which are now all the vogue. Scarfs, like suits, must be summer weight to be smart. Do not wear some heavy, bulky silk more appropriate for winter wear. Unless your cravat looks light and seasonable in texture, it spoils your appearance.

FULLERTON MAN IS JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Following an accident at Northampton station, near the Orange county line, at 8 o'clock last night, when two cars were badly smashed, A. B. Burnard, 30, Fullerton, is being held in the county jail on charges of driving while intoxicated and possession of intoxicating liquor.

In justice court today, Burnard was held on $500 bail on both charges. Examining trials were set for August 25 and 26.
Burnard was arrested by State Motorcycle Officer Louis J. Heffner, after his machine had collided with a car driven by R. E. Garrison, 3639 South Southgate avenue, Los Angeles, and in which Mrs. Garrison also was riding. The woman was said to have been slightly injured.

Heffner reported that he found two bottles of vanilla extract on Burnard and that he was in an intoxicated condition at the time of the accident.
The Garrisons were in court today, but did not testify. Burnard pleaded not guilty to the possession charge.

APPEALS LIQUOR POSSESSION CASE

Having appealed from a justice court fine of $300, following his conviction of a charge of possession of liquor, Earl Meyers, of Norwalk, was in the county jail today in default of $500 bail.

Meyers was found guilty by a jury in Justice H. E. Hart's court in La Habra yesterday.
His arrest occurred several nights ago, when he came to La Habra to attend a dance, after which, it was claimed, he went to a nearby field where a bottle of liquor had been cached.

Officers already had discovered the bottle and were in ambush nearby watching for its owner to appear. When Meyers approached and reached for the bottle they " nabbed" him.

At the trial yesterday, Meyers' attorney offered the defense that the liquor was not in Meyers' possession because he had reached the bottle when arrested. The bottle didn't belong to him, Meyers said. A boy at the dance had told him where the bottle was and told him he could have a drink if he went there, he said.

Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin prosecuted the case. Attorney Kelly, Los Angeles, defending Meyers.

LEGION WILL MAKE CONVENTION PLANS

All members of Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, are asked to attend the August meeting of the organization, to be held in the Legion hall tonight.

Plans for sending delegates to the state convention at Catalina, next month, will be made. New members, taken in during the membership drive, which ends tonight, are asked to be present, so that a report on the membership of the entire post can be made to the state department.

Plans for sending representatives to the national convention, to be held in Omaha, October 5 to 9 also will be formulated, and an announcement showing how members may make the trip without cost, will be made by Dr. James Farrage.

Luck Stars Of Speedy Drivers Dimmed by Fate

Last week about 30 motorists, arrested on the Newport road for speeding, "cutting in" and other alleged violations of the state motor laws, were thanking their lucky stars that their tickets ordered them to appear before the justice of peace in Newport Beach, instead of Justice Kenneth Morrison, in Santa Ana.

They had heard that Morrison dealt severely with violators of the state laws.
Then Fate dealt a hand. Justice Morrison has been requested to sit on the bench for Judge Ben Cope in Newport, tomorrow, and tomorrow is the day the alleged law violators are scheduled to appear.

geles this morning, where she would be met by her parents, Mrs. Ralph Mead, 601 South Ross street, Miss Mead, who is principal of Lowell school, has had a year's leave of absence and has been visiting her brother in China.

Investigating charges by citrus growers living near Orange that their orchards were damaged by certain sprays, George P. Gray, chief of the division of agriculture, state department of agriculture, was in the county today. Gray is being assisted in his work by A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner.

The condition of Paul Brown, 21, who was seriously injured yesterday morning when he fell off an oil tank at the Union Oil company's plant, on East First street, was improved today, according to information obtained from the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where the youth was taken.

Gloria Gould, granddaughter of Jay Gould and in private life Mrs. Henry A. Bishop, has signed a contract to become managing director of a new motion-picture theatre in New York City.

Navy Sees Way to Cut Expenses By Checking 'Pork'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The navy has played a grim joke on the budget bureau, congress and the administration. When asked by General Lord, director of the budget, how it could save $20,000,000 next year, it replied bluntly: "By abolishing useless stations that we don't want, but some congressmen do."

It recommended specifically that the Boston navy yard, the Brooklyn supply base and the Great Lakes training station be dispensed with at an approximate saving of about $17,000,000 a year. By this move, it put it up to Lord and the administration the task of convincing congress that the treasury needs the $17,000,000 more than the congressmen need the naval stations in their districts, and washed its hands of responsibility for economy.

CITES METHODS OF CONSERVING VALUED WATER

A talk on water conservation was given by S. E. Saunby, member of the public utility committee of the farm bureau, at last night's meeting of the Villa Park-Olive Farm center, in the Villa Park hall.

Four ways by which water conservation could be effected were outlined by Saunby. They were irrigation, greater spreading activities, closer observation by growers of the amount of water used in their groves, and reclamation of sewage water.

According to Saunby, it is possible to deliver sewage water at Olive at a rate of 5 cents per hundred cubic feet.

A resolution pledging support of the center to any plan of water conservation that will benefit the entire county, and not one particular section, was passed by the center.

ANAHEIM POLICE ARREST S. A. MAN

A. J. Robinson, of the firm of Robinson and Henry, 619 Fairview avenue, Santa Ana, is in the Anaheim jail, facing a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, following a collision, at 10 o'clock last night, on West Commonwealth avenue, Anaheim, according to a report received from Anaheim today.

Robinson is being held on a drunk charge at the present time. It was said, but a complaint charging him with driving while intoxicated was expected to be issued today.

The Robinson machine was said to have collided with a machine driven by L. A. Newman, 640 West Commonwealth avenue. No one was injured.

MALFEASANCE IN OFFICE CHARGED

EL CENTRO, Aug. 13.—Accusations charging malfeasance in office were returned by the Imperial county grand jury yesterday against Ira Aten, Mark Rose, Earl Pound and C. W. Brockman, directors of the Imperial Irrigation district, controlling the Imperial valley water supply.

Previous allegations made against the directors two months ago were ordered returned to the grand jury by Judge Charles D. Burnell, Los Angeles, sitting here, on grounds they were indefinite and improperly drawn.

The accusations were turned over to District Attorney Utley for service. The accused men will have 10 days in which to make answer to the charges.

Worn Tires Will Pay Church Debt

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 13.—Each Sunday the congregation leaves a big stack of worn out automobile tires outside the Methodist church here, of the Rev. H. W. Riley. The pastor has solicited the tires, which he will sell for junk, turning the money over to the trustees for the redemption of the church's $15,000 debt.

Will Advise U. S. Lease Dirigible

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The navy department will probably advise President Coolidge to lease the dirigible Los Angeles to a private corporation and to tie up the Shenandoah indefinitely if asked regarding the matter, Acting Secretary of the Navy T. Douglas Robinson said yesterday. The president has announced he will let the secretaries of commerce, war and navy pass upon the proposal of a commercial company to lease the Los Angeles for passenger and express service.

Stop Your Piles

BY INTERNAL TREATMENT

Have Salves or Ointments Cured Your Piles?

TREAT FROM INSIDE AND YOUR SUFFERING ENDS

[A Tablet Occasionally and They Disappear]

A Free Test Package to Prove They Heal!

PILES can not be kept a secret—nor can you conceal their evil effects. They reveal themselves in your every action; in your features; in your humor and in your general health.

If you are gambling with piles—taking temporary relief from salves and ointments—you will lose. Piles indicate an internal disorder; they warn you of "something wrong" inside. By treating the piles from the outside, you do nothing to correct the internal trouble. You may relieve the suffering—YES—but the cause is still present. To heal piles you must treat internally. Heal the disorder and the piles will disappear.

They can be healed. Internal treatment by use of a few tablets heal the piles; it ends suffering at once; the piles disappear. Science has developed the modern pile remedy; the internal treatment. The trouble inside must be corrected before the piles, which are the outside manifestation, leave forever.

Thousands Have Been Cured

Thousands of people, many of whom were chronic sufferers have written telling of their complete cure by the new internal method. Your case is no doubt similar to some of these. If it has cured them—it can cure you.

We know that this new treatment has accomplished in the past; our offices contain thousands of letters telling of pile cures. To prove the worth of the method; to show our good faith; to demonstrate the effectiveness of this internal system of treatment; a test package will be sent to you ABSOLUTELY FREE. It will give you almost instant relief. In this manner you can assure yourself of its worth at no expense to you.

The Page Method is the logical treatment; first the tablets—gently they wage their war against your disorder. To relieve you until the tablets have a chance to do their work, a pleasing ointment is included and then the bowel regulator; that completes the Page internal treatment.

These are the things we are trying to give you—not a quantity of each—NO—but enough to give the Page Method a fair trial. It has helped thousands, so why won't it help you. Remember, it is at no cost to you, whether it helps or fails. We are just allowing you to test its worth in your particular case.

Can you afford to gamble with such a serious thing as piles? An operation is feared by every one—its effects are uncertain and the cure always in doubt. But if you heal the cause, if you remove the disorder; the piles leave and you are well once more.

Cured by Tablets
Just a few "easy to take" tablets and your piles disappear. No dangerous, uncertain operation, no pain, no delay from work; just the tablets occasionally and the piles leave.
Can you afford to pass it up? Relief and the end of your suffering is in sight. Remember—if you are gambling with piles—you will lose. Mail the coupon today for the test package. It is free; to test our method.

Porcupine Found In City Street

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 13.—The trail of a lonesome porcupine, which apparently disregarded the advice of its parents and strayed from the family home, leads straight to the city zoo. The prickly little animal was found nosing the core of an apple in the residential section here. County Humane Officer H. J. Winters, answering the calls of frantic neighbors, who feared the safety of their children, found that the youthful porcupine was not wont to leave the apple core without resistance. A lariat was brought into play and now the animal gazes longingly through the meshed netting of his cage. Phone for fresh vegetables and fruits. We deliver. Anderson's. Try our fresh local eggs. Quality guaranteed. Anderson's.

EDITORIAL MEN OF SOUTHLAND VISIT STUDIOS

One of the outstanding memories of the recent visit to Hollywood of the members of the Southern California Editorial association was their visit to the studios.

Through the courtesy of John E. McCormick, head of the production of First National pictures, the members were invited to inspect that company's huge plant at United studios.

After looking at the many sets for the forthcoming First National pictures, Miss Colleen Moore, a First National star, enacted a little episode for her forthcoming picture, "We Moderns," while the visitors stood along the "sidelines" and watched the cameras "grind" out the scene.

Gov. Friend W. Richardson, one of the party, acted as the official leader and posed with Miss Moore in several "still" pictures, while the movie men made pictures of the visitors.

After leaving the Colleen Moore set, the guests were ushered into the studio projection rooms, where a new feature film, made by the International Newsreel corporation, and showing the greatest thrills registered by a news weekly camera in the last 10 years, was exhibited.

This was the first public showing of this film, which is to be released throughout the world next month by the International company.

Several hours were spent in the big First National plant and an insight was obtained by all of the "inner workings" of one of the biggest motion picture organizations in the film industry.

BOYS RECOVERING FROM GAS BURNS

Three Garden Grove boys, Walter and Ray Devine and Raymond Hapes, are recuperating in their homes today from burns received when gas exploded in a manhole in which the boys were playing. Their condition was reported as serious at one time, but all are now on the road to recovery.

The three youths, boylike, went on an "exploring" trip. They armed themselves with a lantern and went into the manhole to discover what was in "the bowels of the earth."

Escaping gas was ignited by the lantern and the explosion followed.

PSYCHOLOGY WILL BE COURSE TOPIC

Applied psychology will hold the center of attraction at the Y. M. C. A. next week, when Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis comes for her course on vocational guidance and character analysis.

The course will begin on Monday evening, with a lecture on "Choosing a Life Work—Life's Great Crisis," a lecture in which she will endeavor to give the most practical sort of help and instruction to any who may be in doubt as to the investment of their lives.

According to Secretary R. C. Smedley, of the Y. M. C. A., the whole course is intended to be of special help to young men and women.

"A great many young folk," said Smedley, "are going through our schools and graduating without any very definite purpose in life. They get out of school and start out to find a 'job' or a 'position.' They do not know just what they can do, or want to do. It is not all their fault. They greatly need guidance and help in finding their way into a useful place in life. Mrs. Ellis makes a specialty of helping such young people meet their problems. We hope that our high school and junior college students will turn out in large numbers to hear Mrs. Ellis Monday evening."

Smedley pointed out that the course for next week will include four lectures, Wednesday evening being omitted on account of the church prayer meeting. All the lectures will be open to the public free, except the last one, on Friday night, for which a small charge will be made to cover cost of advertising the lectures.

On account of train schedules a letter sent by mail from Hartford, Conn., to Cromwell, a distance of 10 miles, must travel through New London and Saybrook, a distance of 139 miles to reach its destination.

Polecat Victor Over Automobile In Strong Fight

An exchange of cars was necessary on a coast-to-coast trip, made by R. D. Jardin, Newark, N. J., who arrived with his brother in Santa Ana today. Jardin, who is making the trip in a small, but well-known make of car, ran into a species of the polecat family in the Snake river country, in Idaho. He said today that the car wasn't worth much in the first place and Idaho cities which he visited after the collision, didn't think it was worth anything at all. Accordingly, he sold it to an Indian, added a little to the original investment and bought a new car. "Those Indians don't mind the odor, and anyhow, it will wear off in another year," the jolly motorist declared.

ANAHEIM MAN WRITES BEST FAIR SLOGAN

In all the West
You'll find the best
At Orange County fair.

Right the first time! The above slogan wins the honors in the Orange County fair contest. It was written by George E. Vadney, of Anaheim, and awarded the prize in competition with a boxful of others, many of which are so good that the judges were reluctant to discard them.

The judges met at the courthouse yesterday for the sifting process. They were A. L. Olinger, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; George A. Raymer, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce and of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the county, and Thomas B. Talbert, chairman of the county board of supervisors.

Miss Minnie C. Childs, of Tustin, was complimented by the judges on the beautiful presentation of her slogan. Her excellent suggestions were done in beautiful script, bound in a little booklet. The leaves of the book were interspersed with leaves and flowers of Orange county plants.

The advertising committee of the fair, headed by Frank L. Purinton, some weeks ago discovered that no slogan had been provided. A statement to this effect in the newspapers brought in scores of immediate replies, and the management of the fair decided to give a family season ticket for the best slogan submitted by August 10. Vadney's slogan now becomes the county fair slogan, and will be used in advertising.

SCHWARTZ POLICY PAYMENT RESISTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The last gesture of Charles Henry Schwartz—suicide—may be futile under suit on file here today in the federal district court by the Northern Life Insurance company, of Seattle, to cancel a $25,000 insurance policy on his life.

The Walnut Creek "silk factory chemist," wanted for murdering G. W. Barbe and leaving the body for his own so that his company and his wife might collect more than $200,000 in insurance, voided his policy on four counts, the suit claims. He killed himself, he engaged in blasting operations, he handled explosives and he changed his occupation and residence, the insurance company alleges. In addition he "attempted to defraud the company by inducing it and others to believe that he had died in and by an explosion."

Mrs. Schwartz is expected to contest the action which would rob her of the last of her insurance policies carried by the chemist.

She will testify in Oakland today at the inquest over the body of Schwartz.

Another inquest already held at Walnut Creek decided that the body of the man found in the silk factory laboratory is that of G. W. Barbe, itinerant religious worker, confessedly slain by Schwartz.

Train Strikes Car Twice; None Hurt

CRESCENT CITY, Calif., Aug. 13.—Not content with striking an automobile once, a logging train near here brought about the destruction of Mrs. Ruby's Pallid's machine by hitting it twice.

The automobile, carrying three persons, was struck by the train at a crossing near here. The impact tossed the machine against an embankment, whence it rebounded.

Same Fine Studebaker Coach

—but at a new low One-Profit price

BECAUSE all Studebaker cars are manufactured on the one-profit basis, we have been able to reduce the price of the Standard Six Coach without sacrificing any of the equipment or quality which made it a big seller at a higher price.

Scientific design, better materials, and finer workmanship distinguish it. And the following self-evident superiorities make it more up-to-date than the newest "yearly models":

Excess Power—According to the rating of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce this is the most powerful car of its size and weight.

Abundant Room—Room to stretch your legs—room to enter or leave without disturbing occupant of folding seat.

Sturdy Body Construction—Fine northern ash and hard maple are used. We pay a premium to get the best quality steel.

Full-size Balloon Tires—for which the steering gear, fenders and even the body lines are specially designed.

Automatic Spark Control—eliminating the usual spark lever on steering wheel.

Safety Lighting Control—on the steering wheel.

Instruments—including 8-day clock, gasoline gauge, speedometer, oil-pressure gauge and ammeter, in single grouping under glass, on beautiful silver-faced dial.

Improved One-piece Windshield—automatic windshield cleaner, weather-proof visor, rear-view mirror, cowl lights and cowl ventilator.

Coincidental Lock—to ignition and steering wheel, which serves to reduce the theft insurance rate on Studebaker cars.

New-type Cowl Ventilator—foot operated.

There are only two cars manufactured on the one-profit basis—the Studebaker in the fine-car field, and the Ford in the low-price field. Only in these two cases does one company in its own plants and with its own centralized organization make all bodies, all engines, all clutches, steering gears, differentials, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings, and drop forgings.

Studebaker has no "yearly models," but instead keeps its cars constantly up to date. Therefore this Standard Six Coach is ahead of the newest "yearly model," yet owners are protected from the artificial depreciation which has cut millions of dollars from the resale value of many makes during the past 30 days.

SAVED FRIEND FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Heckman Decided to Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Note Results—

Council Bluffs, Iowa.—"I had pains in my back and sides and headaches, so that I could not do my work. Once in a while I would be sick a week. A friend told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had kept her out of the hospital, so I thought I would try it, as I had tried a number of other medicines. Now I feel like a different person and am telling my friends about the Vegetable Compound helping me, hoping they will let it help them, too."

May Charter Widow's Protective Council In Santa Ana

Mrs. Lillian Pascal Day, founder and president of the Widows' Protective League, and Dr. A. Gertrude Wolfman, treasurer of the organization, were in Santa Ana last Saturday on business in relation to chartering a branch council of the Widows' Protective League here.

Nine other cities have put in requests for branches of the league, which maintains national headquarters in Los Angeles at 1540 North St. Andrews place. These cities include New York City, where for many years the founder carried on literary and editorial work; Chicago, Toledo, Kas., Miami, Fla., San Francisco and other California towns in this vicinity.

Dr. Wolfman is a practicing physician and surgeon in Los Angeles and a county health officer. The league secretary is Mary B. Caldwell.

The league is incorporated to protect widows' investments from swindle and to recover money fraudulently obtained. A secret card index is maintained, listing all cases where efforts to victimize members can be shown. Volunteer committees, pledged to obtain justice, and wearing the league colors, black and white, attend court cases where members are involved and call upon all who have been guilty of sharp practices, wherever any member is concerned, and a legislative committee watches laws affecting members' purses and property.

More than 1000 newspapers have commended the enterprise in their columns.

The widows' Protective League, as described in its literature, is a mutual benefit, non-profit corporation, with no stock nor shares, composed exclusively of widows, either divorced or bereaved, who are white American citizens, united for financial protection, for education in safeguarding investments through free lectures, classes, legal advice and exchange of ideas at the bi-monthly meetings. The national league is being perfected, and soon branch councils will be organized in other states.

The only ritual is the pledge: "In union there is strength. As members of one united body we stand, and swear allegiance to the flag and to the laws of our country; to the ideals of truth and honor, fair play and integrity, in all our dealings with our fellow humans—and demand the same, in return, regardless of sex, station or creed."

Mrs. Ardine D. Clayton of Hotel Santa Ana is a charter member of Los Angeles Council, No. 1.

POSSES PURSUE THREE CONVICTS

ing the night were being sought today by a posse of 40 policemen and deputy sheriffs.

The delivery, effected with the aid of confederates on the outside, was discovered this morning. The men sawed their way out of two cells on the main floor with hacksaws which were smuggled into the institution. They reached the roof by a rope dropped down to them by a companion on the outside, who sawed the bars from the roof well which affords ventilation.

The escaped prisoners are William "Red" McCarthy, bank robber; George Murray, arrested for burglary; Otis F. Smith, serving a term for forgery, and Fred Trotten, in custody on a statutory charge.

KLAN RIOTERS ARE ROUTED BY POLICE

READING, Mass., Aug. 13.—Following a two-hour clash here between Klan and anti-Klansmen, in which teargas, bombs, revolvers, stone showers, clubs and hand-to-hand encounters figured, state police, under Capt. George A. Parker, early today took command of the situation and dispersed the opposing factions, arresting 15.

Louis Davidson, of Malden, and Harry Martin, of Groveland, alleged Klansmen, were arrested and held on charges of carrying dangerous weapons.

Davidson is alleged to have drawn a club when a state trooper took him into custody.

Reading police estimated today there were between 50 and 70 automobile loads of Klansmen who attended the meeting on a farm on the outskirts of Reading. Between 200 and 300 anti-Klansmen were attracted to the scene about 11 o'clock and massed about the field in which the meeting was progressing in the center of an "automobile ring" lighted by headlights.

Following taunts and a shower of stones hurled into the meeting, the automobile headlights were suddenly extinguished by the Klansmen, who then returned the "fire" by laying down a surprise "gas bomb" attack.

Bride of This Month Complimented With Pretty Party

A charming pre-nuptial party was given last evening by Miss Evelyn Babbitt, 328 East Walnut, in compliment to Miss Edna Dickson, who is to be a bride of this month.

The affair came as a complete surprise to Miss Dickson, who was asked to come over to the Babbitt home for a few moments. Upon her arrival she was greeted with merry shouts of "surprise" from her girl friends, who had gathered there.

Miss Babbitt presented the honored guest with a large box elaborately wrapped and after much unwrapping, Miss Dickson found a small card giving instructions to hunt for presents, which were cleverly concealed in the living rooms.

The usual fun and merriment was enjoyed while the honored guest found her presents. The hostess, in honor of the event, chose lovely bouquets of pink and white dahlias placed in low bowls for the home decorations, while the luncheon table was attractively arranged with candles and flowers. The candles were pink and white, tied with white tulle and were placed at the end of the table, while the centerpiece was an exquisite bouquet of pink sweet peas, maidenhair fern and baby breath.

Before the place of the future bride stood two small doll bride and groom.

Following the luncheon, the guests hemmed linen towels for Miss Dickson.

Miss Dickson, who is a popular Santa Ana young lady will be married August 25th to Thomas Ogelsby also of Santa Ana. Many other pre-nuptial affairs are being planned for Miss Dickson as the incentive.

Guest list for the party last evening includes Mrs. Edgar Dickson, Mrs. James Dickson, Mrs. Elwayne Wilcox, Mrs. Carl Wiseman and the Misses Merle Rash, Nell Boles, Ruth Veria, Elizabeth Martin, Eileen Young, Edna Dickson, Zelma Hayward.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce Frolic At Dancing Party

Over 25 couples enjoyed the informal dancing party last evening, which was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and held at the Rendezvous at Balboa beach.

The affair which was impromptu in every way proved a social success. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce with their wives and sweethearts arrived early in the evening and by seven o'clock the club's badge were taken, where the rest of the party had gathered in a private section of the dance hall reserved for the occasion.

The peppy Oregonians played their usual fine program of dance music. Dr. C. W. Johnson had charge of the arrangements of the affair.

Expect to Float Mercy Ship Held In Northern Sea

SEATTLE, Aug. 13.—Hope that the cutter Bear, veteran coast guard mercy boat of northern waters, reported aground off Cape Prince of Wales, in the Bering Sea, would escape the fate from which she has rescued many other craft, was expressed here today.

A radio message from the captain of the Alaska Steamship company freighter Orduna, received by the harbor radio station during the night, reported the Bear in good shape and would float clear of the shoals before the night was over.

The Orduna's captain also reported that he was leaving the Bear and continuing southward. The Orduna received first word of the Bear's plight yesterday and rushed to her assistance, standing by the imperiled cutter all through the day.

YOUTH FINDS HAPPINESS IN WORKING OUT PROBLEMS

When Betty and Bob married, the parents of each promptly started upward toward the ceiling.

Said her mother: "I don't want my daughter to marry a poor man and have to wash dishes and do housework as I have always done. I want her to marry some man with money who will let her have a maid and a motor car. She has lots of suitors with more money, she needn't marry a man who hasn't anything."

And Bob's mother said: "I don't want Bob saddled with a wife and possibly a family while he is still so young. He deserves a few years of freedom, a chance to have a carefree time before he settles down. Betty will keep his nose at the grindstone the rest of his life."

But these young people didn't care much about what the parents thought. They were very much in love so they seemed very rich. Nothing mattered but that.

Bob's salary was ridiculously small. He held a minor position in an architect's office. He had talents and ambition, but no particular pull, and had to get along decidedly on his own merits. Betty had always had a comfortable home, indulgent parents, and was so popular that she led a socially gay life.

If they had gone on the rocks and given up their marriage as a bad job after a year or so, no one would have been surprised or blamed them particularly. They would have said it was all in the cards.

However, it didn't. They moved into a one-room apartment with a kitchenette in main view and a bathroom they shared with two other people on the same floor.

But they made that room very beautiful. They painted it, hung colorful curtains, and Bob even made all the furniture according to some of his own ideas. It took time and patience, but they were so sure that we've got all the time in

Calvy Home in Tustin Scene Of Lawn Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Calvy, Tustin were host and hostess to the members of the Three G class of the United Brethren church. As the date was the birth anniversary of the host, a particular jolly time was enjoyed.

The lawn of the Calvy home was gayly decorated with lanterns strung in the trees and shrubbery and the evening quickly passed in games, followed later by refreshments of melons, ice cream and cake. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gross, Mr. and Mrs. William Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Gammell, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Harrison, Mr. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. U. F. Colby and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Noble of Orange.

Will Seek State History In Spain

BERKELEY, Aug. 13.—University of California educators are planning a trip to Spain soon in quest of information on early state history. It has been announced at university headquarters here. This early history is supposed to have been carried across the seas by the Spanish conquistadores.

South Dakotans Entertained With Dinner Party

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Grumm and three children of South Dakota who are visiting Mr. Grumm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Grumm of East Palmyra avenue, Orange, were very pleasantly entertained recently with a chicken dinner at the Ernest Bandick home on West Palm avenue.

The delicious, browned to perfection, fried chicken and many other delectable viands were spread on a long table prettily decorated in the yard of the home.

The evening hours were spent in music.

Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Grumm and three children, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Grumm, A. E. Grumm of San Diego, Watson Grumm, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gunther, Meinert Grumm, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Gunther and children, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Gunther and children, Myra E. Craemer, Miss Helen Craemer, Mrs. Louise Dittmer and sons, Harold and Adolf, Jack Craemer, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Loescher, Ruth and Eleanor Loescher, Mr. and Mrs. L. Intorf and family, Walter Loescher, Miss Marie Trost, Miss Lydia Dornseif, Lorenz Trost and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bandick and family.

Those who have traveled the road and know how unsubstantial dreams are and how necessary money is are quick to advise youth to wait until the income is assured and the bank account thrives before undertaking marriage. But we are also asking them to give up a glorious adventure that security and stern common sense deny.

Fortunately, people who want to marry rarely take the advice that is handed out gratuitously, and the privilege of working out their own salvation is not always denied them.

Miss Gene Smith was the incentive this week for a jolly surprise party given for her by her grandmother, Mrs. L. Dysart, 107 N. Olive street. The date was significant in that Miss Smith celebrated her fifteenth birthday.

While Miss Smith was attending a matinee with Miss Evelyn Dysart, her girl friends gathered at the Dysart home, and were there to surprise the honored guest on her return to her grandmother's.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. L. Dysart at six o'clock and assisting her was Miss Lorraine Smith. Following the three-course dinner, the guests at luncheon by Mayor George P. Wilson, Supervisor and Mrs. T. B. Talbot, were also present, with Mrs. Crozier and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Welch.

The visitors were entertained enjoyed an evening of games.

The honoree was the recipient of many pretty gifts. The party included besides the honored guest the following: Mrs. L. Dysart, the Misses Lorraine Smith, Gladys Vest, Lida Vest, Evelyn Dysart, Doris Dysart and Gertrude Boyd.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTIST JAILED IN SANTA ANA

With the arrest yesterday afternoon of Fred W. Strong, 65, 292 Azusa road, Los Angeles, on a charge of issuing fictitious checks, Santa Ana police are of the opinion that they have captured one of the most clever check "artists" who ever operated in this country, they declared.

Strong was arrested in Tustin by Jailor Jack Roberts, for the Santa Ana police, after information came to the sheriff's office that the man was trying to buy a tire from a Tustin garage.

According to police, Strong has been operating in Orange county for the last year, having cashed numerous alleged bad checks in various towns. He has operated in Santa Ana on three different occasions during the last year, police said.

Always working the same trick, that of obtaining merchandise for his checks, the police said that the man would go to one tire shop after another, always buying a 30 by 3 1/2 size tire. The police presumed that he later sold the tires.

Three times, still wrapped, were found at the time of his arrest in an automobile, said to belong to the man. Police are endeavoring to locate the owners of the tires.

Another feature of the man's operations was the fact that no one had ever before seen his automobile, police giving this as a reason for not apprehending him before.

Tire shops have been warned on numerous occasions to keep a lookout for Stone, and his description has been left at several establishments in the city and county, officers said.

Strong is a man weighing 145 pounds, is five feet, five inches tall, and has a sandy beard.

London Fogs Ruin British Pictures

LONDON, Aug. 13.—London fogs are held to be one of the chief reasons for the failure of the British film industry.

This was one of the statements made by T. A. Welsh, chairman and managing director of one of the largest of the few remaining companies, in asking a government subsidy of $7,500,000 to reorganize the industry and erect new studios on high land well outside the London fog and smoke area.

STUNT FLYING DEFENDED BY MARTIN, WHO ASSERTS NO DANGER IS INVOLVED

Rising to defense of his stunt flying over Santa Ana, but declaring that no danger is attached to any of the tricks performed in the air, Eddie Martin, Santa Ana aviator, in commenting on a recent editorial in The Register, points out that, to the untrained observer, certain features about flying are confusing.

For instance, says Martin, while it often appears that the stunts are performed directly over the city, the plane is at such high altitude that, in case of the engine failing, he could glide safely to a landing field.

Martin also points out that aviators from other cities frequently do stunt flying over Santa Ana, and Martin gets the blame for it. "It is true that I have taken my Newport Special plane and on Sunday days have stunted over the city limits of Santa Ana," Martin remarked. "However, to an untrained observer, there are certain things about this that are confusing. These stunts are always done at such a height that the aviator may appear to be directly over the city, but, as a matter of fact, all stunts ever done by myself or my students are so high in altitude that the flying ships just as the race track has been the testing laboratory of the wonderful automobile in which you ride so comfortably. The improved and safe plane of today has been produced by risks and tests. You may be sure that, as long as I control the flying field I have here in this county, I will not permit my students to do any dangerous stunting over the city, nor will I myself do so. I want to obey the law in every respect and wish to build up a business that will be a credit to the entire community. In this connection, I will also say that sometimes ships come in from other airports, stunt over this city, and I get the credit for these acrobatics which are often executed at too low an altitude."

Can't Gauge Distance
"I often hear people say that they observe a ship directly overhead, and estimate it to be from 500 to 700 feet in elevation. However, the true facts in the majority of these cases are that the ship is 3000 to 4000 feet high, and easily a mile and a half, or two miles off-set from perpendicular. I am fully cognizant of the ordinance against stunting and trick flying over the city of Santa Ana, and other municipalities. Stunting is only safe for trained aviators. Stunt and trick flying are a laboratory of the flying ships just as the race track has been the testing laboratory of the wonderful automobile in which you ride so comfortably. The improved and safe plane of today has been produced by risks and tests. You may be sure that, as long as I control the flying field I have here in this county, I will not permit my students to do any dangerous stunting over the city, nor will I myself do so. I want to obey the law in every respect and wish to build up a business that will be a credit to the entire community. In this connection, I will also say that sometimes ships come in from other airports, stunt over this city, and I get the credit for these acrobatics which are often executed at too low an altitude."

Progress of Aviation
"Now I want to say just a word about commercial flying. The progress of civilization demands that the conquest of the air is the next in order. Great advances have been made in the equipment for machines and motors. It is reasonably safe to fly with a good pilot with a ship in good repair. There is no more risk in taking an aerial trip from Santa Ana to Los Angeles than there is on the crowded boulevard. Travel by air will soon become commonplace. In a short time, no one will think it unusual at all to go from one place to another in aeroplane. In the old countries, France, England and others, flying is becoming very popular. These countries are far ahead of us in aviation, and everything possible should be done to encourage flying in this country. "It is of primary importance from a military point of view. If we are supreme in the air, no nation will ever bother us, for they will be afraid of us. If every able-bodied young American who can afford this price of sports would go in for commercial flying and aviation, become a skilled aviator, our country would be in a much safer position and would advance more rapidly in all lines. Some of the biggest men in Orange county now are taking instructions under my tuition to become aviators. There is a great recent interest being felt in this science. It is the work I have selected for my life's work. I have an airport directly outside of the municipal lines of the city, and I want to build up a business that will be a credit to the entire community and something that will be useful to my country."

RESCUE TWO FROM FLAMING BUILDING

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Capt. Michael Flaherty, of the San Francisco fire department, and Herbert Gainey, of the Underwriters patrol, were rescued from death in a fire at the University of California dental college here yesterday. Both were overcome by smoke and had to be carried from the blazing structure. The damage estimate was placed at $10,000 by Dr. G. S. Millberry, dean of the college.

Three alarms were turned in on the fire, which threatened to spread to the pharmacy school in the same building, and to the adjoining medical building of the affiliated colleges.

Stairways and corridors through the center of the building were destroyed by the flames, with some damage to equipment in laboratories opening from the halls.

Bottle Travels In Ocean 3600 Miles

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—How far will a bottle go?

In olden days such a query might have been answered, "Not very far," but nowadays it can only refer to mileage distance. One bottle, just reported, traveled 3600 miles, almost all the way across the Pacific ocean.

Practically all of the Latin American countries will have displays at the International Trade exposition which will be held in New Orleans in September.

The paper said Capt. E. J. Punlin, of the British steamer Empress of Canada, had thrown the bottle overboard off the coast of Japan, Oct. 27, 1923.

OFFICERS OF REAL ESTATE BODY INVITED TO GATHERING

Realty Boards of County To Hold Annual Session At Park August 29

EXPECT OVER 300 MEMBERS AT MEET

Elaborate Program Planned By Committee in Charge Long Speeches Taboo

D. Richard Ainsley, Fresno, president of the California Real Estate association; Glenn D. Williamson, Los Angeles, secretary, and other prominent members of the realty profession have been extended special invitations to attend the annual meeting of the Associated Realty Boards of Orange County at the county park Saturday, August 29, it was announced here today.

Officers hope to make the gathering the most successful ever held by the county association. While there will be a few short speeches, most of the time will be given over to games and dancing. Election of officers will be a feature of the meeting.

Over 300 realtors from various parts of the Southland, their wives and children are expected to attend the realty session at the park. The boards in various Southern California cities will be invited to meet with the Orange county realtors.

An elaborate program of entertainment is planned for the event by the organization, President B. H. Sidnam of Anaheim states. Among those who are assisting on the program are J. E. Livesey sr., president of the Santa Ana board; R. C. Berger, Santa Ana, and Hugh Nixon, Anaheim, secretary of the county association.

The association is made up of the realty boards in Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange, Fullerton, Laguna Beach and Garden Grove.

A total of 17,700 brokers held real estate licenses in California on July 20, and more than 24,000 salesmen had been licensed, the aggregate income to the state being $199,152.37, according to word received here today by the Santa Ana Board of Realtors from the state real estate department.

The total number of licenses, 42,199, was a decrease of nearly 10,000 from last year, the department stated.

Who's Who in Community Development

James Metzgar

A resident of this city for the last 23 years and having served 13 years of this time as the executive secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, James Metzgar is re-entering the real estate business. Upon the completion of his 13th year of service, Metzgar promised himself a year's vacation and that year ended this month.

Metzgar is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended school. After finishing school he decided to become the president of a railroad company via the well known "bottom of the ladder" route.

In a short time, Metzgar saw that this route was a long one, so he decided that the famous saying, "go west young man" was meant for him. He came to this city and entered the real estate business.

He will specialize on real estate appraisals, a business for which he is well equipped since, during his secretaryship in the chamber of commerce, he made a special study of property values here.

His office is located just south of Sixth street, on Main street. Public service is Metzgar's hobby and his experience in investigating values for the chamber of commerce fits him for the role of public appraiser, it is believed.

Fraternally, he is a Mason, Elk and a Rotarian. He is a member of the Santa Ana Country club. Although he is fond of golf, he believes that it takes too many daylight hours from the busy business man and he centers his recreation on the social events at the county club after the candles are lighted.

CONSTRUCTION COMMENCED ON JUVENILE HOME

New Addition Will Cost Orange County $33,290; Finish Work December 1

With the granting of a building permit, construction work was started yesterday on the new addition to the county juvenile detention home, at 1207 East Fruit street. The contract, which is for $33,290, is held by William Rohrbacher, of this city.

Occupying ground space 50x140 feet, the building will be a replica of the present detention home. In it will be a large reception room, two class rooms, dormitory, sewing room, matron's room, superintendent's office, store room and wash room. The addition will be of concrete construction.

Finish Home Dec. 1

Rohrbacher estimates that the structure will be completed and ready for occupancy by December 1. The plans were prepared by Frederick Eley, of Santa Ana.

The detention home is situated on a six-acre tract planted to walnuts. Twenty-six boys and girls are now at the home, it was learned from Leroy Warren, chief probation officer of Orange county.

Many Houses Being Built

Erection of residences continues unabated here. Among those granted permits the last few days is J. E. Lee of 725 McDonald avenue, Wilmington, who will construct a six room brick residence and a garage at 2412 Riverside Drive. The cost will be $5000. The owner will direct the work.

Four thousand dollars will be expended by O. C. Hathaway, of Route 2, Box 14, Norwalk, in the construction of a house and a garage at 1502 West Sixth street. The dwelling will be a stucco affair and will have seven rooms. Erection will be by day work.

Russell Gets Permit

Roy Russell, realty man, Third and Sycamore streets, has been issued permits for a house and a garage he plans to build at 2219 Greenleaf street at a cost of $5500. The house will have five rooms. Russell will direct the work.

Edgar G. Dickson, 834 East Washington avenue, will erect a dwelling and a garage at 1547 West Tenth street at a cost of $3100. Honer, Herzog and Farney have the contract for the buildings.

Herbert Powell, of Fairlawn street, will erect a dwelling at 1822 West Fourth street, at a cost of $1400. Construction will be by day work.

PROPOSED $500,000 HIGHSCHOOL FOR BEACH CITY

Here is the architect's drawing of the proposed high school for Huntington Beach. The site favored by the school trustees adjoins the present high school. Proponents of the new structure point out that the enrollment of the students at the beach has been steadily increasing, and that a new plant is essential.

6 COUNTY MEN TO ASSIST ON REALTY JAUNT

Six Orange county realtors, Frank Pope, Santa Ana; B. H. Sidnam, Anaheim; Harry H. Crook, Fullerton; Roy Peacock, Laguna Beach; W. B. Martin, Orange; and Carl Mock, Santa Ana, have been appointed by the California Real Estate association to assist in making the realtors' caravan to the state convention at Fresno October 7 to 10 a great success, it was announced here today.

The caravan, which will form at Van Nuys October 6, will be in charge of Grand Marshal C. W. Cleger. Pope will be one of Cleger's chief lieutenants and the other Orange county men committee men. Approximately 300 Southland realtors are expected to line up at Van Nuys for the 250-mile trip to the raisin city. A preliminary meeting of the lieutenants and committee men will be held at Van Nuys September 3 at a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

This year's realty gathering will be one of the greatest in the history of the association, according to reports. The mornings will be given over to general business, with the afternoons devoted to divisional meetings and entertainment. The fifth annual home town contest will take place the evening of October 8.

Officers of the association plan to follow the example set by the National Association of Real Estate Boards at the recent national convention at Detroit and start and close sessions on the time scheduled.

The association is inviting all brokers and salesmen to the convention, regardless of membership in the organization.

A large number of Santa Ana and Orange county realty men and their wives plan to attend the Fresno convention, it is understood.

Realty Directors To Hold Session In L. A. Saturday

The educational program for 1925-26, together with other important matters, will be before the directors of the California Real Estate association at their third quarterly session at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, Saturday. Santa Ana men who will be present at the session are Frank C. Pope, vice president of the association and a director; Everett A. White, director-at-large; Carl Mock, director; Freeman H. Bloodgood, chairman of the legislative committee, and W. B. Martin, secretary of the local board.

L. B. MEN START ON $54,000 JOB HERE

Representing an expenditure of $54,000, a four-flat structure, six double bungalows and a 16-car garage building will be erected at 2035 North Broadway by H. F. and R. Heininger, 1529 Pine avenue, Long Beach.

The structures will be in the form of a court, with the bungalows on the two sides of the lot, the flat at the rear and the garages at the rear of the flat.

The bungalows will have three rooms each. All the buildings will be of frame and stucco. Construction is to commence at once. Lumber for the structures was placed on the ground yesterday.

Erection of the buildings will be under direction of the owner, who have built a number of similar structures in the beach city.

Local Realtors To Hear Speech By Joe Skidmore

Joe Skidmore, Laguna Beach realtor and part owner of the Simon & Skidmore manufacturing concern of this city, will be the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon session of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors at Ketter's cafe Friday noon, it was stated today by J. E. Livesey sr., president of the organization. He will talk on "Manufacturing."

BUILDERS TO HOLD PICNIC AT BALBOA

A beachparty for members, their wives and children is planned by the Builders Exchange of Orange county for September 5, afternoon and evening, it was learned today from Louis Allen, manager of the Exchange.

The bathhouse at Balboa Palsades has been reserved by the exchange and the beach in front of the building will be roped off, it was stated.

The outing will be in the nature of a basket picnic, with the exchange furnishing coffee, lemonade and lunch. A short business session for members will be held immediately after the dinner in the evening.

Included on the program will be a baseball game between members, dancing and cards. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of N. E. Lentz and Elmer Bowers.

Invitations will be extended to other exchanges to attend the picnic, Allen said. At least 300 exchange members, their friends, wives and children are expected to attend the picnic next month.

BOND ELECTION TO BE HELD AT H. B. SATURDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 13.—Whether Huntington Beach will have a new $500,000 high school plant will be decided by the voters at a bond election called for Saturday. It is reported that sentiment is in favor of the proposed unit.

The bond issue will be for $300,000, the school district having $200,000 in its treasury available for construction work if the voters authorize the erection of the school.

The site selected by the school trustees adjoins the present high school. Some objection has been raised to the location owing to the fact it is in the oil district.

The plans drawn by the architects call for a main building two stories in height and built in the form of a quadrangle, with a grass-covered patio in the center of the group. The plant will have accommodations for 600 students. Among the features will be an auditorium seating 1500 persons, a domestic science department with a complete housekeeping unit, large library and cafeteria. Walls of the proposed plant will be of brick and concrete. A gymnasium with space for instructors' offices, showers, clinic and lockers is also included in the plans.

In arguing that Huntington Beach needs a new high school, proponents of the bond issue point out that the enrollment has been increasing each year, until now the present building is not large enough to accommodate the students. The enrollment jumped from 137 in 1913 to 373 in 1924, it is pointed out.

SERVICE CLUBS OF CITY BACK PROJECT

Switzler Urges Citizens to Get Behind Plan For Playgrounds and Parks

By BRUCE E. SWITZLER Secretary Junior C. of C.

Several weeks ago, the junior chamber of commerce decided that the time was ripe for someone to really commence a worthwhile movement in Santa Ana along the lines of civic development; a project with a definite aim in view, a cause, if you please, that the super-organized Santa Anans could delve into, feeling that at last, the community leaders had finally decided upon something definite that should be accomplished now.

A letter was sent to every civic and service club in Santa Ana asking their respective bodies, what in their opinion they deemed the most important thing to commence along the lines of civic development. The answer came back that the crying need of Santa Ana at this time is parks and playgrounds. This proves beyond a doubt that the women and men of our community realize that we, a city of 30,000 inhabitants, have been and are now neglecting the very basic principles of community responsibility.

Play Places Needed

Unless we provide places for our children to play, where they may derive the benefits of the wonderful open air and sunshine, and proper environment, we are merely inviting those children to roam the streets, where danger lurks at every turn, where the environment leads boys and girls astray. And finally, deadens or kills those finer qualities within those undeveloped brains that otherwise would mean a greater appreciation of community responsibility.

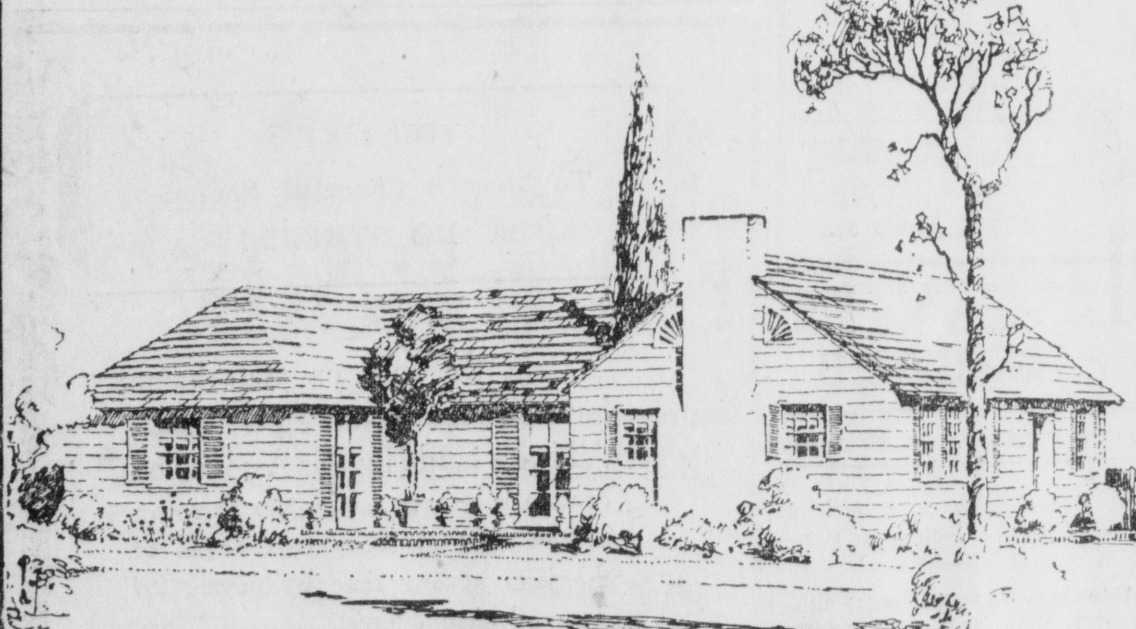

As a result of the preliminary work of the junior chamber of commerce, a meeting was held and it has finally been decided that the more sensible thing to do in order to put over this important project is simply to organize a representative from every service and civic club in Santa Ana, work out the necessary details, formulate a working plan and get out and put over a bond election of sufficient size to insure the people of at least two parks, equipped with adequate facilities, including a swimming pool. It has been proven that a swimming pool is self sustaining, with the exception of the actual investment. The pool at Anaheim pays all expenses, including the labor, heating and maintenance.

Urges Co-Operation

Santa Ana, banded together, can do big things in a big way; but as long as we band ourselves together in small squads, we can not hope to sell the necessity of a park to the people of our city. We must all get together on common ground and sell our own selves on the things that are worth while, then go out and sell it to the people. It is strictly up to every man and woman to as-

The migratory habits of birds grew up from necessity. With certain types of birds, the exact time for leaving a district seems to be agreed and understood and acted on simultaneously. And when they set out they make record flights in an air line.

Riding on air! That the bird does and that you do, since the pneumatic tire came. The records made in mileage around one. Good tires figured on a per-mile basis are one of the most economical parts of your auto enjoyment. NEW $15,000 DWELLING COMPLETED HERE

Here is the handsome house just finished by W. H. Dixon, local contractor and builder, at Nineteenth and Ross streets. The house will become the permanent residence of the Dixon family.

LIGGETT PRAISES REGISTER SECTION

The Liggett Lumber company is thoroughly sold on the effectiveness of the Register's building and development section, which is a feature of the Thursday issue, as an advertising medium.

"For the last two months," said D. E. Liggett this morning, "we have been hammering away each Thursday on our new house plan service, which we are offering to our patrons free of charge with the costs figured down to the last penny."

"That our advertising has been read and acted upon may be judged by the fact that we have supplied plans and lumber for the following: F. M. Anderson, West Nineteenth street; Dr. Roland Yeagie, North Broadway Park; I.
J. Owens, 124 Owens drive; L. M.
Hutchinson, South Maple street; duplex for W. H. Dixon, 900 North Olive street. In addition to this group of homes of the better class, numerous smaller houses are being built according to Liggett plans."

Dixon Residence Will Be Opened for Public Inspection

Typifying the spirit of progress so evident throughout Santa Ana as regards the development of high class homes, much interest is being shown at this time in the new $15,000 home of W. H.
Dixon, well known local contractor, at Nineteenth and Ross streets, which will be open for inspection Saturday, 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., and each day next week except Sunday.

The house is of modified Spanish type of construction and contains eight large rooms. Interior walls throughout are finished in Tiffany blends in soft browns, tans and grays with stippled work to match, except in the living room, library and dining room, the woodwork in which is southern gum.

Adjoining the double garage, there is a completely equipped laundry room, also an office room for Mr. Dixon's contracting business. An attractive feature of the exterior appointments is the handsome wall fountain overhanging the fish pond and facing Nineteenth street. The home has been completely furnished and draped by Chandlers, and will be occupied as a permanent home by the Dixon family.

Pasadena Selects Manager for City

PASADENA, Aug. 13.—R. V.
Orbison, city manager of South Pasadena, was appointed city manager of Pasadena yesterday by unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

O. D. Hunt, acting assistant manager, withdrew his name from consideration in the interests of harmony and made Orbison's unanimous choice possible.

Orbison was formerly city engineer here.
He will succeed to the position left vacant six weeks ago by the resignation of C. W. Kolner, Pasadena's first city manager, and president of the National Association of City Managers.
Orbison's salary will be $500 monthly. Kolner drew $12,000 annually.

UTTLEY CLOTHING STORE IS ALTERED

Enlarged show windows, new wall paper, repainted showcases and other changes have transformed Uttley's, 117 East Fourth street, into one of the most up-to-date men's clothing establishments in Orange county.

The work was done while B.
Uttley, the proprietor, was attending the recent Knights Tem-plar convocation at Seattle, being designed as a surprise by the employees of the store. The interior color scheme is French gray.
Mr. Uttley is one of the pioneer business men of Santa Ana, having started in the clothing business here 38 years ago.

Here's Good News For Bald Humans

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Here is hope for baldheaded men.

According to assertions made at Chester, England, before a meeting of sheep breeders, a Japanese scientist has just compounded a new tonic which, when injected into the veins of a sheep, produces an ordinary year's growth of wool in two months' time.
Under the new method it is said two or three shearings a year are possible where formerly breeders got only one.

Up to the present time, so far as is known, the new tonic has not been tried on human beings.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

Q: Will you please advise what bond I should require of a contractor I have selected to erect a two-story bungalow?

A: You should require a contractor to furnish a faithful performance bond, which provides for the completion of the work in accordance with the plans and specifications and another bond covering the labor and material involved in the construction of the building.

Q: In proportioning sand, gravel and cement for the construction of a foundation or driveway, how should the aggregate be measured?

A: In mixing concrete, regardless of what the product is to be used for, the proportion used is based on measurement by volume.
In some localities, sand and gravel is sold by the ton, while the more general and common practice is to quote a price by the cubic yard.
If concrete is mixed, using one part cement, three parts sand and five parts crushed rock, which is a common mix for ordinary work, and based on volume measurement, by weight, the result will be a richer mixture, due to the moisture contents of the sand which causes a bulk of the sand.
Sand measuring one cubic foot when dry will increase in volume to as much as one and one-quarter cubic feet when moisture is added to it. When a cubic foot of this damp sand is measured by volume, the result will be less accurate per barrel of cement than should be.

Q: Will you please advise me whether calamine should be mixed and immediately placed on the walls or is it better to let it stand for a while?

A: It is best to mix sufficient hot or cold water with the cala-mine to make a thick paste. Stir well and be sure that no lumps remain. Thin by the addition of water to about the same consist-

SHIP HELD IN ICE RELEASED AFTER 3 YEARS

SEATTLE, Aug. 13.—The "Maud," famous Amundsen polar exploration ship, is safe and bound for Nome, a radio message from the Alaska Steamship company's freighter Oduna said. The Maud has been frozen in northern ice, drifting helplessly with the floes, for three years. The Oduna's message to the harbor radio said:

"Communicated with Amunsen polar ship Maud. She is now out of the ice and off East Cape, Siberia, bound for Nome." This is the first word from the Maud since last November, at which time she radioed she was off the northern Siberian coast, fast in the ice and short of fuel. The vessel at the time had been damaged badly and was drifting helplessly.

The Maud sailed from Seattle on her hazardous cruise on June 3, 1922. She is "out" nearly 1175 days, a record voyage. Following her arrival at Nome, the famous vessel probably will be brought to Seattle before winter sets in in the north.

U. S. CONSTRUCTION RECORD SHATTERED

The volume of construction being carried on in the United States shattered all previous monthly records for the third time this year when the high marks set in May and June were topped in July, according to information received today by Orange county members of the Associated General Contractors
of America.

Statistics compiled by the Washington, D. C. office of the organization show that the total volume of construction for the first seven months of the current year is five per cent greater than the corresponding period of 1924.

Despite this unprecedented amount of building work, the average construction costs in the principal centers of the United States remained stationary during July, according to the report.

Japan Produces New Poison Gas

OSAKA, Japan, Aug. 13.—While agitation is on in many countries for abolition of poison gas as an instrument of warfare, a Japanese chemist has brought forward a new gas which he asserts is the most deadly known.
The chemist, Dr. Kyosaku Takeda, has been experimenting at his laboratory in Sennin Pass, Iwate prefecture, and has completed 40 drums of his new gas, described as an arsenious acid derivative made from iron by product in copper or reduction plants.

A quantity of the gas which escaped destroyed trees and all other vegetation near the laboratory.

Thirty-one months ago a six-room frame "DIXON'S DURABLE DWELLING," completely furnished, was opened for inspection on West Nineteenth near Ross, and was viewed by 1500 people in four days, and sold to a prominent local physician. It was THE FIRST of many so-called "model houses" opened for inspection by various local builders and owners. In fact, opening a "model house" for inspection became one of the most popular outdoor sports in Santa Ana during 1923.

I refrained from further activity in that direction for thirty-one months, but now invite the public's attention to the new eight-room stucco home which I have just completed at the Southwest corner of Nineteenth and Ross, which will be OPEN SATURDAY at 10:00 A. M. and until 10:00 P. M. It will NOT be open Sunday, but will be open all next week from 9:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M. daily, and your inspection is cordially invited within those hours. Tremendous strides have been made in the development of Santa Ana homes in the past thirty-one months and I believe this home typifies the spirit of progress, of refinements in detail, of improved construction methods so evident throughout the city.

Want Ads

Telephone your Want Ads to the Register 87 or 89. When it is more convenient to do so and bill will be mailed the following day. This is an accommodation service rendered. Register Want Ad patrons and payment should be made promptly on first presentation of bill. Bills for ads ordered more than one day are also payable on presentation—not at expiration of order.

Always ask that your ad be repeated back to you by the ad taker to make sure the ad is being taken correctly. The Register assumes no responsibility for errors in telephoned ads.

The Register will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser. If such errors lessen the value of the ad. All claims for adjustment must be made within five days after where the error does not materially affect the value of the ad.

In the case of Want Ads containing more than one item, adjustment will be made only on the item containing the error.

The Register reserves the right to classify Want Ads under proper headings.

Cancellation for an advertisement placed but not yet published will be guaranteed.

Ads set in the regular uniform Want Ad style. Ads without capitals or white space are computed by the line basis. The line rates appear at the top of the index.

Ads containing capital letters, display type or white space are computed by the line basis, 12 lines to the inch.

There is no Sunday edition. Advertisements received at the office before 11 a. m. will be classified in the evening edition.

HOW TO ANSWER BLIND ADS

In answering blind addresses (for instance, L. Box 38, Register, or other similar addresses), please be careful to use the precise address given in the ad. Write address plainly. Letters requiring stamps, please enclose your answer in sealed envelope.

If an advertiser who has made application for credit and opened an account with the Register Credit Department in the regular form desires to have any "blind" advertisement published, he must do so by signing a "TE" order to that effect. An advertiser who has been countermanded by written order.

The Register's postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to their office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards, which must be presented at the Register office for the protection of our patrons, replies are not given out except on presentation of box card.

No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using the Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisers can be supplied. Changes made for words "Box A-234, care The Register."

EVERY CAR IS A USED CAR

Used car does not mean a car which is ready for the "junk heap." Every car is a used car! The minute a car leaves the sales floor it is a used car—that beautiful blue roadster you saw this morning is a used car. And it would surprise you to know how many of these practically new cars are listed in The Register's used car columns at unbelievably low prices. Read the following ads—you may find the very car you are looking for.

Resentence Sends Burglar to Prison

HANFORD, Calif., Aug. 13.—William Wilson, convicted of bur-glary with explosive, who had been barred out of the peniten-tiary because there was no specifi-cally provision for sending him there for that offense and who had continued a 25-year sentence in county jail after serving three years in Folsom prison, was on his way to Folsom today, after being resentenced by Superior Judge Charles R. Barnard, of Fresno.

OIL FIRE BURNING OUT.

FRESNO, Aug. 13.—Cooling's spectacular oil fire, started by lightning, was just a smoldering mass today, the oil being consumed several days quicker than had been anticipated. The loss is con-siderably over a million dollars. Shell Oil company officials said today.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1925

JOHNSTON-RICHARDS RATING WITHHELD

S. A. TEAM TO OPPOSE BEACH STARS FRIDAY

Junior Chamber Club Ends Southern Calif. League Season Tomorrow Night

Santa Ana indoor baseball fans have their last chance of the season to see the Junior Chamber of Commerce team in action tomorrow night when this club goes against Long Beach at Poly field in the concluding game of the Southern California league.

Long Beach holds two decisions over the locals, one in a practice skirmish and again in league competition, but Captain Horace Snow is confident his men will be able to vanquish the Beachcombers this time. If Santa Ana wins it will finish in a tie for second place with the visitors. Whittier already has clinched its claim to the championship. If the Junior Chamber club is defeated it will drop down a tie for third place with Orange.

Any of four pitchers may go to the ridge for Santa Ana. "Eeny" Wilcox seems to have first call for the little fast ball star has been going like a house afire in his recent games. Jay Bergman, ace of the Excelsior Creamery company outfit, Tommy Hitt, the young Kiwanis slabster, and Purcell, the crack Oliver twirler, also are starting possibilities.

"Bab" Babcock probably will do the catching with Wayne Nelson at first base, Snow or Ray Echols at second base, "Pee-wee" Scott at third, Everett Lutz at right short, Frank La Plante at left short and Don Jerome, Ed Daley, Bill Cole and "Memphis" Hill in the outfield. The contest will begin about 8:30 o'clock immediately after the Kinslow Machine shop and Raitt Davis teams of the Santa Ana Class B league have finished their hostilities.

Root Injured But Angels Beat Sacs

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Charles Root, pitching ace of the Angels was hit in the forehead by a batted ball which knocked him unconscious for 10 minutes in yesterday's game with Sacramento which the Angels won 7 to 4. Root, outside of a severe headache, was not seriously injured, it was announced today.

Canfield, Sacs pitcher, hit a hard liner straight at Root. The latter put up his hands but the ball struck him, bounded 25 feet in the air and was caught by Sandberg. Root resumed pitching after being revived.

Kid Mexico Is Winner By K. O. Over Jack Moore

A towel saved Jack Moore from suffering any more pain when it sailed into the ring in the fourth round of his fight with Kid Mexico, Huntington Beach middleweight, at Wilmington last night. Mexico had things his own way from the start and had floored Moore for an eight count early in the round. The second knockdown Moore received brought aid from his seconds. Young Terry of Whittier won a decision over Sailor Foster in the semi-windup and Battling Ward fought a fast draw with Allie Nelson in the special event.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's Hero—Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher—held the Browns safely all the way and knocked in two runs with a single that helped to win his own game for the Athletics, 5 to 2.

Herb Pennock, held the White Sox to two hits and drove in one run with a triple, the Yankees winning, 2 to 0.

Helped by the stupid baserunning of Meusel and Kelly, the Pirates beat the Giants, 5 to 3 and increased their lead to 5½ games.

The Cards nosed the Robins out of fourth place in the National league by a fraction of a point when they took a double header from the Phillies, 3 to 2 and 3 to 4. Hornsby hit his 30th home run.

Erratic fielding by Detroit enabled the Red Sox to win, 7 to 2.

Ehrhardt held the Reds to three hits and the Robins won, 5 to 1.

GAS MEN BEAT GARDEN GROVE IN CLOSE GAME

Santa Ana's Class A Indoor Baseball league closed its regularly scheduled season at Poly field last night. The Southern Counties Gas company defeating Garden Grove, 3 to 2, in one of the most exciting affairs in recent weeks and incidentally capturing the first of three contests obstructing its way to a tie with the Excelsiors and the Halys for first place.

One more match is on the books—that between the Kiwanis club and Fullerton—but as Fullerton has forfeited virtually all of its games to date there is no reason to believe the North county club will show up tonight.

In the Class B league, the Pacific Electric massacrered Duntons Fords, 24 to 3, and stayed in the race for titular honors. A crucial game is on the books for this league tonight for the untamed Tustin club, winner of six straight, is to hook up with Bessers Torgery, one of the best teams in the loop when it's "right."

"Eeny" Wilcox and Fulson were opposing flingers in the Class A league last night and both were almost invincible. Wilcox allowed only two hits which were both gathered by his mound rival. Fulson was touched for only three swats, two by Wayne Nelson and the other by Mortimer. Wilcox whiffed 10 and Fulson got rid of nine that way.

The Gas company scored in the second, fourth and sixth frames. Garden Grove got one in the second and another in the sixth.

Pounding little Bob Nelson for 22 hits, the Pacific Electric had little difficulty in conquering the Ford team. Jordan clicked a homer in the first inning and from there on it was merely a question as to how large the score would be. Jordan pitched a sweet game, allowing only four blows and fanning 16 hitters.

PATRICIA FIRST IN R-CLASS YACHT RACE

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 13.—The Patricia, commanded by Pierpont Davis, today reigns supreme of the R-class yachts in Southern waters as the result of its sensational victory over Ben Weston's Debra here yesterday.

Five ticks of the second hand of a watch separated the two yachts at the finish of the Lipton trophy race. Closely following the two yachts came the Galliano, California, Canuck, Alopa, Peggy and Alert I.

A protest was entered by the commander of the Debra after the race. Weston claimed he was fouled by the Patricia during the course of the race. However, the judge of the course at the place Weston said the infraction of rules occurred failed to uphold his claim and the cup was given to the skipper of the Patricia for a year's keeping.

Jack Dempsey has now ruled the pugilistic parapet the same length of time as did Jim Jeffries years ago. A comparison of their championship regimes is therefore interesting just at this time. It affords plenty of data.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

There is so much bunk written about the lives of professional baseball players and boxers that it is refreshing to hear an occasional hero come out and tell the truth about his business.

The first line written about a new ring champion concerns the great love that he has for his mother, as if love of a mother is so unusual that it should be worthy of comment.

The next line always concerns the way the fighter started in his racket and it always tells the same story. He was brought up in the tenements where he had to fight the bully of the block or stay in the tenement and that he took up professional fighting because he liked it.

Filial devotion isn't considered so extraordinary in writing about boxers as it is in writing about a hero of the diamond, but the big star always got his start on the corner lot and succeeded in getting to the top because of a consuming love for the grand old national pastime.

It is refreshing to hear a nice-mannered youngster like Charley Rosenberg, the bantamweight champion of the world, tell the truth about his purpose in becoming a professional fighter.

"I didn't have to fight as a kid, and I wasn't born in a tough tenement district," Rosenberg says. "I took up boxing because I thought it was the quickest way for a boy with a limited education to make money. I'm staying in the boxing game just for a stake. I'm not in love with the business and I want to get out of it as soon as I have enough money to set me up in a good real estate business. I've got a little money now and I'm already building up a business. I'm going to save my money and I won't have any regrets when I'm through."

Another who blasts popular romance that is painted around a baseball hero is Earl McNeely, the young outfield star of the Washington Senators, whose hit won the last world's series against the

New York Giants.

McNeely admits that he has no consuming love for baseball and that he is in the game purely for business reasons. He wasn't born with a baseball in his hands. He didn't play on the sand lots and didn't play at all until he was nineteen years old.

"When I had a chance to play professional baseball," he says, "I went into it only because I wanted to get a bankroll. I took a course in civil engineering and worked some in a bank, but found out that those who succeeded quickest in any profession were those who started out with a bankroll, and it is the old bankroll that I'm after."

Abe Goldstein, even when he was the bantamweight champion, never admitted that he liked the professional ring. He, too, said it was the big money that came quick that started him in the game and is keeping him there."

It is always interesting to hear the answer of a man associated with professional sports when asked what profession he would prefer for his son.

Commissioner Landis was asked once if he would recommend baseball for his son or any youngster and he declined to answer.

Tom Gibbons was asked once if he wanted any of his five fine little fellows to take up boxing and he replied—"You know better than that, don't you?"

Recently Leo Flynn, who has been connected most of his life with the boxing game as a manager and who has the largest stable of fighters in captivity, was asked what line of sport he would recommend for a youngster.

"Well," he replied, "without much deliberation, 'if I had a son I would put a golf club in his hands when he was five years old and I'd keep him at it. I think it is the greatest of all games."

"It offers the opportunity for physical development and promotes good health. It furnishes ideal environment for a youngster and then if the money angle is to be

Comparing the relative merits of present-day sportive stars with those of other years has become quite a popular form of diversion.

It's a pastime widely indulged in by the athletic assemblage in general and rabid fandom in particular. Arguments both pro and con are numerous, sometimes a bit heated, too.

Obviously, they get no further than the argumentative stage. For it would be impossible to get the modern stars and brilliant of bygone days together in actual competition. But it's interesting, nevertheless.

In baseball, you hear the exploits of Cobb arrayed against those of Wagner; Johnson versus Rusie; Mathewson against Radbourn. And so on.

In football, it's Grange and Heston; Stuhldreher and Eckersall; Horrell and Schulz.

All Have Admirers. On the cinders, Paddock, Hussey and Hubbard against Arthur Duffey, old Georgetown star, and the first sprinter said to have stepped the century in 92.5 seconds.

In various other sports it's the same, comparing the old stars with the new, or new with the old, if you prefer. All have their admirers. Each his quota of talking points.

Perhaps one of the most discussed comparisons, however, is that which involves the fight game. Especially, is this true, since Dempsey has led the pugilistic caravan.

Could Champion Jack have whipped the great John L. Sullivan? Could he have trimmed Jim Jeffries, when the California bantamweight was in his prime? Some answer in the affirmative, others negatively.

A comparison of the Dempsey-Jeffries titular dynasties is interesting just at this time. For they run along somewhat similar lines.

Dempsey has now ruled the roost six years. On July 4 last, he celebrated his sixth anniversary as emperor of the fistie fraternity.

considered, a good golfer can always make money."

DEMPEY ASKS MILLION FOR NEXT RING GO

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—"I will fight for any promoter who can arrange a match with Harry Wills and guarantee me at least $1,000,000 for my end of the match," Jack Dempsey reiterated today in an interview on the heavy-weight title situation.

"I am not partial to any promoter," Dempsey said. "But now that I'm handling my own business affairs, I'm looking at things from a purely business point of view. It's the money that counts most—my next match must net me at least a cool million."

Dempsey denied reports he would not fight for Tex Rickard in Jersey City, if he agreed on terms. "I never said I would not fight for Tex Rickard. I regard him just the same as the others. He's one of several bidders for the match, and he can have it when he signs Wills and lays the money on the counter taking care of me."

Dempsey declared emphatically he would never fight again in New York.

"I don't like the attitude of the New York boxing commission," he said, "and will absolutely refuse to put the mitts on in the state of New York."

"I will fight for Tex Rickard in Jersey City, if he agrees on terms. But I will not fight for him in New York."

The champion said again that Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan City promoter, had made him the best offer to date for the Wills match.

"It rather looks now as though Floyd will get the match," he said. "I told him and Paddy Mullins on the phone last night that I liked Fitzsimmons' proposition. I urged Paddy to get in touch with Wills and sign with Floyd for the bout. Fitzsimmons has offered me a million dollars, and he has got plenty of backing."

A large rooster, which formerly walked Lansing (Mich.) streets at will, has been ordered kept enclosed. The rooster attacked Miss Lela Hanthorn, and several men were needed to subdue the bird.

Over Same Stretch.

Big Jim topped the pack the same length of time. In 1899 he limbed the dizzy heights to fame and glory (but rather small purses) by defeating Bob Fitzsimmons. He was still unscathed when he retired in 1905.

His reentrance into the ring to battle Jack Johnson is not taken into consideration in this analysis. During his reign Jeffries engaged in five championship battles. He won them all, naturally. Four he grabbed on kayotes, the other going 25 rounds to a decision. His five fights totaled 63 rounds.

The Dempsey regime commenced with the Willard fight at Toledo. That was in 1919. Since then the present champion, like his famous predecessor, has defended his laurels on five occasions. Like Big Jim he has won four of them via dreamland drives, the other on a 15-round point verdict. Unlike Jeffries, however, his five bouts have totaled but 36 rounds.

A comparison of their records shows that each had a two-round knockout to his credit. Jeff topped Jack Munroe, the Montana miner, in a pair of sessions. Dempsey, as is generally known, did the same to Luis Firpo.

Jeffries' longest brush was with Tom Sharkey. It went 25 rounds. The marathon for Dempsey was the 15-rounder with Tommy Gibbons.

While Dempsey has finished his opponents in almost half the time it took Jeffries to brush his aside, that doesn't mean anything in the way of comparison. For Jack's foes could hardly be classed with those Jim encountered.

Where would the Willards, Miskebrennans, and so on of this era, get with fighters like Sharkey, Corbett and Fitzsimmons? Not very far.

All of which brings the thought back again that comparisons hold scarcely no value for the sport-loving public and bring on numerous and unending arguments.

COMMITTEE TO HOLD ANOTHER MEETING SOON

Californian Defeats Court Rival for Second Time; Should Be Unlaced No. 2

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—After forcing Vincent Richards and Bill Johnston to play two hard test matches to decide the No. 2 place on the American Davis cup singles team, officials of the United States Lawn Tennis association today reported a final decision must await an executive session.

In a terrific five-set match last Saturday that nearly caused the collapse of the two stars, Johnston defeated Richards and again yesterday he proved his superiority over the youthful second ranking player by winning easily in straight sets.

Johnston proved beyond all doubt that he is a better singles player right now than Richards and if the association should fail to nominate him as Bill Tilden's helper in the singles matches there would be a violent protest from the Johnston rooters and they are by no means confined to his home territory in California.

In the test matches that were staged to decide the team that would play in the doubles match, Tilden and Johnston defeated Richards and Dick Williams and now the committee is facing the doubt that Johnston is physically able to play in both the singles and doubles matches.

If so much had not been taken out of him in his singles test against Richards there might have been no doubt about his ability to carry such a heavy burden.

The committee has to name the team that will defend the cup on Aug. 20 but it does not have to name the actual lineup. The committee probably will tell the team privately how they are to play in the challenge round but the announcement does not have to be made public until 24 hours before the matches.

ANZACS, CANADIANS IN DAVIS CUP CLASH

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 13.—Australia and Canada met here today in the first singles matches of their Davis cup elimination round. James O. Anderson, captain of the Australians will meet Willard Crocker, Canadian champion, and Gerald Patterson, hard hitting Australian, will oppose Jack Wright, Canada. The Australians were generally picked to win.

JAPAN AND SPAIN IN ELIMINATION BATTLE

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13.—Spain and Japan will start play here today in their Davis cup elimination rounds. Eduardo Plaquera, Spain, will meet Takekichi Harada in the first singles match and Manuel Alonso will play Zanzo Shimidzu in the second match.

TOMMY CELLO WINS NOD OVER O'BRIEN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Tommy Cello, San Francisco lightweight, won a 10 round light decision from Tommy O'Brien at the Olympic auditorium last night in a slow bout. The pair "waltzed" through the 10 rounds to the accompaniment of much razzing from the spectators.

The six round semi-windup between Jackie Fields and Johnny Lamar resulted in a fast draw, although the majority of spectators thought Lamar won. In fact the work of the referees came in for much adverse comment during all the bouts.

KERNELS
BY THE COLONELMichigan recently passed a new state law requiring each couple to post five days' notice, before obtaining a marriage license, thus eliminating hasty marriages. At least that's the idea of the law.Without making any wise cracks about how many marriages performed by Justice Morrison are hasty, such a law in California undoubtedly would reduce the "best" job in the county to the "poorest" job. At the next election, there probably would be no candidates for the office.Of course, there are some fellows, (no names called) who will run for anything, any time, anywhere, but the office would at least lose some of its popularity.Not that the office-seekers want the job now for the money it pays. Oh, no, but look at the insight on life the justice gets every day. Go up to his court some day and attend a murder trial. Get yourself all interested in the testimony being given by the defendant, and then let a bashful couple stick their heads around the door, and watch what becomes of that murder trial."Just a minute, gentlemen," says the judge, and away he sal-lies, leaving the district attorney, attorneys for the defense, prisoner and spectators, helpless. Love must be served.He returns in a few, very few minutes, however, and with him comes a grin. But why not? Isn't there another fine spot in his trousers pocket?WHAT AMERICA NEEDS

don't hear them bragging about it."The officer was so nice, I didn't think he would turn the brought in on a bench warrant.

And to think, there are some folk who insist that motor cops are hard-boiled.Generally, officers are so kind-hearted that they go home after a night on the road, and cry themselves to sleep, thinking of the poor unfortunates they had to arrest.That's the reason they wear the big goggles, to keep people from seeing the pained look in their eyes, when they are forced to write a ticket.Only yesterday, one of the women on the bus that was "marooned" at the jail said to Officer Yoder: "Young man,
I could trust you anywhere.
You have such lovely eyes."
And Yoder, the true knight of the road that he is, didn't even smile. Just took it as a matter of course.A story in Tuesday's Register, under the heading: "Actors Against Kissing Bobbed Napes of Necks," goes on to state that French actors feel that they are kissing bimbos very much like those found on a man's chin, when they kiss these bobbed-haired necks.Did you ever kiss a pig? The bristle part would be about the same. Why not let the French actors kiss pigs in rehearsals? Then, when the love scene in the play was on, they probably would better relish their jobs.It has been unanimously agreed that no such protest will be made by the actors at the Suburban theater. They wouldn't dare make such a statement after one of the actresses went all the way over the footlights in order to keep the leading man from kissing her.

WEST END THEATER

The "walk of death," a form of execution that involves the most extreme suspense, provides one of the many thrilling sequences in Zane Grey's "The Light of Western Stars," which is at the West End theater.Spaniard call it "la le de fuga," and it is adopted in the picture by Noah Beery, who plays the role of an outlaw chief. Jack Holt, hero of the border drama, is captured by Beery. He is told that he may go free, but as he walks away, a number of the concealed bandits open fire, toying with him, the object being to kill him as he is within sight of liberty.For several uncomfortable minutes Holt is a veritable human target. A shower of bullets rain about him, flicking up the dust at his feet, and one shot takes off his hat. To "Partner" Jones, famous cowboy sharpshooter, was entrusted the delicate task of doing this critical shooting.
Jones is reputed to be one of the finest marksmen in America, and he certainly gave a remarkable exhibition of coolness, iron nerve and eagle eyesight during the filming of this dangerous scene.

Advices Ordinary Buttermilk for Wrinkles and Enlarged Pores

This Good Looking Young Woman Uses Old Time Recipe of Buttermilk Cream in a New Way—A Gentle Massage with Fingers Around Eyes and Mouth Before Retiring All That Is Necessary.

The old-time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness was grandmother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms.

Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first-class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's Buttermilk Cream."

There is no secret about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream. To get the best effect, be sure to follow the simple directions. All druggists guarantee a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money. Adv.

KIWANIS CLUB AIMS RELATED AT GATHERING

Nation-wide suppression of obscene literature, suggestive posters and questionable motion pictures; co-operation with other agencies in fire prevention; promotion of better relations between the farmer and the city man; service for the underprivileged and handicapped child, are some of the activities touched upon in convention reports read at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, at St. Ann's Inn. The reports were presented by H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school, who represented the local club at the international convention held June 22 to 25, at St. Paul, Minn.

Another matter taken up at the meeting was indorsement of the proposed "Save the Band" benefit dance, to be given Thursday night, August 27, at the Rendezvous dancing pavilion, Balboa, under auspices of the Santa Ana service clubs. Calvin M. Gilbert and Clarence E. Oleson, representing the Knights of the Round Table, outlined the purpose of the dance.

Pledge of Kiwanians Speaking on the convention activities, Mr. Nelson said that the Kiwanians of the world are pledged to fight for suppression of questionable publications which now are undermining public morals.

Urging that more attention be given by Kiwanis clubs to the problems of the farming population, he said that the convention went on record as favoring the appointment of a standing committee on agriculture in each club and each district.

Proceeding on the basis that "the future rests with those who control the hidden resources of the earth, and with those who live in productive contact with the soil," it was further recommended by the convention that emphasis for the future in the development of this objective be kept clearly focused on the friendly human relations aspect, rather than on the technical agricultural elements of the program.

Following were the recommendations adopted by the convention in the matter of caring for underprivileged children:

Service To Handicapped—"The field of activity of Kiwanis is not that of child welfare or of child-health work in general, but service for the underprivileged child, the handicapped child. Kiwanis is chiefly interested in the child as a future citizen."

Service to the underprivileged child consists in removing handicaps to his development as a good citizen.

"Make a survey to determine opportunities open to each club and to your district."

"Choose some activity in which the survey shows that your club may exercise leadership without duplicating work adequately meeting existing needs."

"Strive to do service of an enduring nature, that touches lives in an enduring way, not an ephemeral way."

The swimming hour for little girls at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday mornings is proving a success. A number of girls are taking advantage of the opportunity to swim under safe surroundings, and to improve their stroke under careful guidance, with the result that the hour is popular and useful.

Physical Director R. R. Russick of the Y. M. C. A. has charge of the class, and gives such individual instruction as is needed. Many of the little folk are now able to swim easily, and two or three have taken the test of their ability to swim the entire length of the pool.

The swimming period is set for each Wednesday morning during August, at 10 o'clock, and is for girls 9, 10 or 11 years of age. All who come are admitted, and all seem to find great enjoyment in the work.

Lillian Troun, Mary Anna Baxter, Marian Brownridge and Suzanne Alexander have been awarded the "beginner's" button for swimming the length of the pool. Other candidates hope to make the accomplishment next week.

ENRAGED PASSENGERS PAY BUS DRIVER'S FINE TO GET HIM OUT OF COUNTY PRISON

This is a story of 20 tourists, come to the Golden state to see its beauties, to traverse its roads and to return home, full of life, inspiration and a good word for California.

That is, it would have been such a story, had not these same tourists selected a driver for their parlor car tour, who was wanted by the law, and who fell into the law's clutches as the happy-go-lucky party traveled over Orange county roads late yesterday.

The driver, one R. J. Nicholson, 30, of Long Beach, an employee of the Golden State Auto Tours company, has very little to do with the story. He was in jail while most of the story was being manufactured on the pavement in front of the county bastille.

Arrested by Yoder It so happened that about four weeks ago Nicholson was driving his car through the county in such manner that Officer F. G. Yoder stopped him and wrote him a ticket, charging "cutting in" on other cars. The ticket, a perfectly innocent little affair, was merely an invitation for Nicholson to pay his respects to Judge Morrison on a given date.

When the time came for the appointment, Nicholson did not appear. A bench warrant was issued. Yesterday Yoder and Ed McClellan, the man who runs things next to the sheriff of "this here" county, were riding over the San Diego highway. Lo and behold! They spied the said Nicholson. He was driving the big parlor bus. So was driving the bus, Nicholson, was arrested and brought to the county jail, where he was assigned one of the new fangled canvas cots, in the hold-over tank.

Hero Locked Up The tourists waited and waited in front of the jail for their hero driver to reappear, but iron bars held fast, and as time wore on, several of the male members of the sight-seeing party grew anxious. They went inside to find the driver and learned the awful truth. "You're marooned, ol' dear," one of the obliging jailers sang out, as he explained the case.

A hurried explanation to the other members of the party, and the entire crowd came out of the beautiful parlor car and went inside the jail.

"Monty" Moncrief, chief jailer, buried with questions and running out of answers, suddenly remembered that he was invited out to dinner. Ed McClellan decided that a raid should be "pulled" somewhere. Motor cops remembered a road they had not worked during the day, and the sheriff was nowhere to be found.

Reporters, deputy sheriffs and other attaches of the jail lasted as long as they could. Oh, for a cameraman and Larry Semon would have had the king of comedies.

Different in Iowa "I want you to know that we don't do that way in Iowa," said a pretty little blonde. "It's just outrageous."

"Just wait until I get back east," sang another. "I'll tell the cock-eyed world what I think of this California, and especially Orange county."

"I've heard about this horrid place," came from another. "We were warned we should have stayed out of this crazy county."

"In Oklahoma, where I came from, all you have to do is give the ticket to the governor, and he fixes it," came from a little brunette, who, under questioning, readily admitted that she knew the governor and ate dinner in his home "every other night."

"I'm going back to Florida," said a man in the party, who looked like he had been there all his life. "We don't put them in jail in Florida."

"No," wise-cracked a jailer. "You stick them in the Everglades down there, you don't touch a jail."

Had to Catch Train "Vy Han, I haf got to get back to Los Angeles tonight. I am trum Noo Yawk, and I am to take a train out of Los Angeles tonight," waved a little fat Jew, his hands in the air.

And so on, and on, and on. It lasted for more than an hour, and then suddenly a woman, who is spending the summer in Long Beach, hit upon a brilliant idea. She suggested that the crowd raise bail for the "poor unfortunate fellow," and then they could be on their way.

They learned that the bail was $200, and the women dived into their pocketbooks. Curses, was there $200 in the crowd?

Whether there was or not, someone else thought of an even better scheme. He telephoned Judge Morrison, and Morrison told him that if the prisoner would plead guilty, leave $40 as a fine at the jail, on the "cutting in" charge, and promise to return tomorrow to answer to the charge of failing to appear, that, as far as he was concerned, the tourists could go back to Los Angeles and Long Beach and

STYLE OF NEW ARMY UNIFORM IS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Coats with turndown roll collars, overcoats with collars of the same style, golf stockings and the natty, peakless overseas cap, so familiar in the days of the World war, will be worn by officers of the army air service in accordance with orders to be issued by Dwight F. Davis, acting secretary of war.

These changes are supposed to be the first step in changes affecting the uniform of all branches of the military service. There has been much complaint over the present style of blouse worn by officers with the collar buttoned tight around the neck. The navy abandoned that style of blouse several years ago and naval officers now wear a blouse with roll collar.

Taken from Allies In the World war the uniform blouse of most of the allied armies had the roll collar. Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, former chief of the army general staff, had his United States army blouse made with roll collars and wore them while he was serving as an observer with allied field forces during the World war, but this innovation was sanctioned by the war department.

A description of the alterations to be made in the uniform of the army air service was given out by the war department recently.

The officer's coat will be a single-breasted, four-button coat made of the same material as the present one, with a roll collar and notched lapels. It will have four pockets with flap on each. It will be cut to extend two or three inches below the crotch and to fit the figure easily over the chest and snug at the waist. It will have a belt two inches wide sewed down all round the waist. All insignia will be embroidered in gold and silver bullion.

Other Style Changes The overcoat will be a double-breasted four-button overcoat with roll collar and notched lapels. Three buttons will show below the end of the lapel roll. The coat will reach one inch below the knee. The insignia of rank will be on shoulder loops.

The cap will be similar in type to the overseas cap and will have a piping of ultramarine blue with golden orange threads. The boots will be similar to the present field boots, but need not necessarily be weather proof, nor with bellows tongue.

The olive drab shirt will be of the existing type, except that shoulder loops need not be worn when the coat is worn.

Stockings will be "golf commercial," plain tops and made of olive drab wool.

Troops Unite to Combat Riffians

FEZ, Aug. 13.—Franci-Spanish military operation has begun. French and Spanish troops have effected a junction northeast of Citouana, on the Loukkos river, in the Ouezzan region. Their commanders started a consultation as to the best methods of procedure against the harassing enemy infiltrations.

England has just celebrated the 100th anniversary of the birth of Richard Doddridge Blackmore, author of Lorna Doone. Blackmore died in 1900.

Tourists Pay Fine "Now listen brother," said one of the male members of the "touring gang," to Nicholson. "You plead guilty, it's all right. We'll pay the fine and all of us get out of this place before they ram the whole crowd in jail."

It was agreed. The fine was paid, Nicholson checked out of the Hotel de Jernigan, and the party, meeting the prisoner at the jail steps, came near bearing him on their shoulders to the marooned bus.

And so, in this manner, gloom suddenly was turned into joy, and amid farewells to "you police boobs" and jailers, the party "carried on."

As they rounded a curve, a shrill little voice was heard to ask: "Say did you get a receipt from those crooks for that $40?"

—kills citrus insect pests in all stages of development

The remarkable results achieved by the use of VOLCK are largely the result of the fact that VOLCK not only kills scale and most other citrus insect pests but kills them in all stages of development from the egg to the adult.

Most insect pests pass thru various stages in which they are practically immune to other control methods and spray materials—but there are no stages where they are immune to VOLCK. Every scale that is touched by VOLCK dies.

Because of its exceptional effectiveness one application usually ends the pest problem for the year. Once over your trees and you can give your time to other things.

VOLCK is not only sure, but it's safe. It does not burn or injure either fruit or foliage. No pitting, no scarring, no wind damage. When your trees are sprayed with VOLCK you get clean fancy fruit and the top price.

RANUNCULUS

Along in the late winter and early spring months of this year, about a dozen times each day, some lady or gentleman would come into our store and describe a flower to us. Invariably, they described the same flower—always in enthusiastic tones—expressing a desire not only to learn what kind of a flower it was—but what they had to do to secure it for their own gardens. They described it as a brilliant-flowering plant, growing about one foot high, with masses of bright, poppy-like blossoms in an infinite variety of colors. It was surprising how many people failed to recognize this flower. It was surprising how immensely popular it had become, almost over night because it has been cultivated for a long time for cut flowers.

GRAPE CROP IN CALIFORNIA IS IN BIG DEMAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—In 1849, California took most of its gold from the stream beds. Today a volume of money, which makes the gold excitement seem small by comparison, is flowing from the vineyard-clad hillsides. The grape has done it. For the next four weeks, carload after carload and train after train will roll eastward with grapes for practically every section of the country.

Right now, the table varieties are moving but not even the larger part of these shipments will be eaten fresh. Most of them will be crushed and go into beverages, syrups or jams. These table grapes, however, represent only a part of the crop. According to the latest estimates, the entire crop may be divided roughly into 25 per cent of wine varieties, 25 per cent table grapes and 50 per cent which might become raisins.

This year's yield is far from a full crop, although it is a moderately good one and there is every indication of a good demand and good prices. The Grape Growers exchange, which handles juice grapes, disposed of the offerings of members at the exchange schedule, within three hours after the opening.

Fought Volstead Act
The California growers of wine grapes, who had been selling their products to the 700 miles in the state, fought the Volstead act bitterly, declaring it would mean the ruin of their business. In the early days of prohibition many acres of juice grape vines were grafted over into table and raisin varieties.

The mistake soon became apparent. There was a strong call for juice grapes from all parts of the nation. One large vineyardist is reported to have committed suicide because he had been deluded into grubbing up thousands of acres of vines.

The wineries had been paying $10 to $30 a ton but the demand from householders raised the price almost immediately to $50 and above.

The classification of grapes as wine, table and raisin varieties is misleading and any attempt to estimate what proportion of the huge crop finds its way into kegs, barrels and bottles is baffling. For grower, dealer and consumer all realize a grape's a grape, and its juice will contain from 10 to 14 per cent of alcohol when nature ferments it.

85 Per Cent Used
Experts in the trade know that a very large proportion, probably 85 per cent of the fresh crop, is crushed, but how much of it becomes marmalade, syrup or jam, and how much wine, they can't say. The common variety of sweet grape juice is not a California product, but is made from Concord and similar varieties grown in the east and mid-west.

E. M. Sheehan, president of the Grape Growers' exchange, said: "It is now a well known fact that many thousands of carloads, approximating roughly 150,000 tons of raisin grapes, are being sent not for eating purposes, but for crushing and for manufacture into whatever the ultimate consumer may choose. It is an undisputed fact that the great bulk of the crop is being crushed. The only question is the exact proportions that are made into home wine, grape-juice, grape syrup and jams."

New York Best Market
It is expected that with the early varieties now in process of shipment and continuing through the heavy season from late August to early November, some 70,000 carloads of fresh grapes will be shipped from California vineyards. The best markets are New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, which take about half the crop. More than two-thirds go to 36 cities, the rest being distributed throughout the nation.

The nearest competitors of California are New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania, which shipped, respectively, 5641, 4617 and 1148 tons last year.

PRESIDENT READY TO RESUME DUTIES

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 13.—President Coolidge started on the eighth week of his vacation yesterday. He is rested and ready to return to Washington, but his plans now are to remain here until Labor Day unless a coal strike demands his presence at the capital.

Mr. Coolidge feels that the seven weeks so far at the summer White House on the north shore have "set him up" physically so well that he is prepared to carry through the hard legislative winter which is in prospect. The President, however, desires to be in Washington if the anthracite strike occurs on September 1, as seems likely now. He may go a week ahead of the strike date, or two weeks from today if the miners definitely call a walkout.

This week-end the President will spend with his father, Col. John Coolidge, in Plymouth, Vt. He will leave here tomorrow or Friday and will return Monday or Tuesday.

July Sales Value Increase Is Noted

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Retail trade conditions in the twelfth federal reserve district showed a general increase in value of sales for July over the same month of 1924, a report of the federal reserve bank here today showed.

Total gain in the twelfth district was shown to be 5.3 per cent. California's gain was 5.8 per cent, the Pacific northwest gained 4.3 per cent and the intermountain states increased 1.3 per cent, the report detailed.

Figures for cities were given as follows:
Los Angeles, plus 5.5; Oakland, plus 3.3; San Francisco, plus 3.1; Seattle, plus 5.6; Spokane, plus 4.7; Salt Lake City, plus 0.9. Forty-four stores in the district reported increased sales, and 28 reported decreases in sales.

WHEAT PRICE MANIPULATED BY GROWERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—The wheat growers, using knowledge gained from experience and the radio in addition, is engaged in showing speculators that he can do a little influencing of market prices as well as can professional traders.

Such is one well-grounded explanation given at the board of trade for the recent skyrocketing of wheat prices, up 17 cents in a week, just at the time when growers are in a position to benefit. For back of the rapid rise has been an extreme shortage of actual wheat to meet market demands. The farmer, by using his radio to keep in touch with market conditions, and backed by a better financial position, has been putting into play his tragedy of holding.

Growers Hold Wheat
In recent years, speculators have taken it for granted that the grower would dump his crop on the market just as soon as it was harvested. Such is said to have been his practice since the post-war agricultural depression struck. But this season, according to traders, while the crop is small the growers are adding to buyers' troubles by hanging on to their wheat in the expectation of a $2 return.

It was this holding policy that forced speculators into a corner when July contracts were closed out. Unable to get wheat to deliver even after a 16-cent price advance, some traders defaulted on their contracts. As a result of this deal, the board of trade now has an investigation under way into charges that one big trader, backed by the farmers' strategy, had attempted to corner that delivery.

New Corner Attempted
There are new reports that attempts are being made to corner September wheat, but these are not given great credence. Instead, the farmer is given credit for playing a long-headed game by feeding his wheat to the market in an orderly manner, instead of dumping.

That it's a paying game may be seen from the fact that September wheat now is selling for 35 cents more than a year ago, when farmers were being credited with making real money.

The growers are said to be giving particular credit to the radio for keeping them in constant touch with market whims.

SUSPEND POLICE HIJACK VICTIMS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Two policemen, who claimed they were robbed of a truckload of valuable liquors by hijackers, were suspended from the force yesterday, while Acting Police Chief A. W. Murray investigated the alleged holdup.

The officers, Charles Wyckoff, and H. J. Swindle, were transporting 400 cases of imported liquors from the harbor district to the police station when four hijackers overpowered them and escaped with the contraband, according to their story.

ARREST ALLEGED BANK EMBEZZLER
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Joseph Ward, fugitive assistant cashier of the Bank of Benwood, W. Va., has confessed, according to police, of participating in embezzlements totaling $300,000.

Ward was arrested in a fashionable tea-room here. He claimed other officials of the bank, one of them a fugitive also, were involved in the defalcations. The missing $300,000, he said, was "milked" from the bank during a period of 25 years. "I got some of the missing money," he said, "but I've only got $141 in the bank now. I've had a tough time since I left Benwood. With my wife I drove across the country in my car. It took me four months to get here and I've had my share of trouble all the way."

THE CHANGE OUGHT TO BE MADE

The opinion that the Artesia street Mexican school ought to be abandoned and re-established in a more suitable place is concurred in by all members of the board of education who have expressed themselves on the subject. There is but one factor in the situation that prevents immediate action. That factor concerns finances. The board has no money that can be appropriated to the purpose. The offer made to residents of the section seems worthy of consideration. The offer was that the residents undertake the sale of the present site at a figure sufficient to meet the cost of a new site and the cost of moving the schoolhouse. Unless something of that kind can be done, the probability is that the Mexican school will remain where it is for another year or two.

Santa Ana was the first city in Southern California to institute separate schools for Mexican children in the lower grades. These schools proved a boon not only to the children, both American and Mexican, but also to the parents of Mexican children. English-speaking pupils in the lower grades in a number of our schools had been held back by reason of the fact that teachers had to pay much attention to the backward Mexican children, and yet the teachers were unable to give the Mexican children the close attention they needed in order to learn English.

The new schools have become Mexican civic centers. Work in Americanization among Mexican mothers has been carried on with pronounced success in these schools, all of which, with the exception of the Artesia street school, were located in the midst of Mexican homes. The Artesia schoolhouse was well enough located when it was built, but since then there has been a shifting population, with the result that the schoolhouse grounds are now surrounded by American homes. The schoolhouse is therefore no longer well located for Americanization purposes among grown-ups.

THE FRIENDSHIP AUTO TOUR

On Wednesday, September 9, Santa Anas are going visiting. They are going on a handshaking trip during which they will make stops at eight Orange county points and at cities located in three adjoining counties. According to the itinerary, the travelers will visit Orange, Olive, Corona, Arlington, Riverside, Ontario, Uplands, Pomona, Brea, Fullerton, Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Newport Beach and Balboa.

The name selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the trip is the Friendship Automobile Tour. The name was well chosen, for it expresses not only the spirit of those who are arranging it but it will help in carrying our message of good will.

A long time ago, most cities found that there is nothing to be gained in hammering neighboring cities. Friendliness among cities just as friendliness among business men is something to be fostered and prized. A good word here and a good word there go a long way in this world, and there is no reason why a good word should not be taken from city to city in caravans.

Santa Ana is a good place in which to live. One reason why it is a good place in which to live is that the spirit of the people is of a friendly nature. Good citizenship is our goal, and to us good citizenship includes friendliness.

WHAT THE FIGURES SHOW

Once more reverting to the statement sometimes made by detractors of this state, that "California has nothing but climate," striking evidence that the facts do not bear it out is afforded by the official figures showing California exports for the first three months of the present year.

The amount was $56,000,000. Among all the states and territories of the union, California ranked sixth in the volume of its foreign trade. The first six are here given in the order of their rank:

Texas, New York, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, New Jersey, California.

During the six months referred to, the chief export from this state was rectified petroleum, the total value of which was $20,500,000. Fruits and nuts to the value of more than $10,000,000 were exported.

California has quite recently become a cotton growing center, but already it is evident that the industry is destined to assume immense proportions in this state. During the past six months our cotton exports amounted to more than $4,000,000.

And so it goes. California's productions are so great and so diversified in character that it would almost seem that anything produced elsewhere in the world can be produced with equal, and frequently with greater, success in California.

Boasting? Not at all! A mere statement of fact. Undoubtedly there will be greater development in foreign trade to and from California as the years go on. The products of this state—its oil, its nuts, its cotton, its canned and dried fruits, as well as the citrus fruits, are shipped all over the world.

Incidentally, be it noted, as the products to be shipped increase in volume of production additional shipping facilities will be needed.

As a matter of fact, the figures showing the exports of California for the past six months are, in themselves, a very good argument for more shipping facilities—more harbors, if you please.

And right here in Orange county, its farthest inland shore only five or six miles from Santa Ana, is one of the finest small natural harbors in the world!

OUR GAIN IN WEALTH

Those who point to our supposedly great gain in wealth during the World war, and the accompanying improvement of Europe as a reason why Uncle Sam should so kindly forget what Europe owes him, would do well to consult the figures, for they are somewhat surprising.

According to the World Almanac the total estimated wealth of the United States in 1922 was $320,803,862,000 against $186,299,664,000 in 1912, or an increase in that period of about seventy per cent. The purchasing power of the dollar was about one-third less in 1922 than in 1912, so that the increase was not so great after all.

Yet as the August Number of the National Republic points out, the wealth of the United States increased from 1904 to 1912, a period of eight years, 73.9 per cent, measured in dollars of practically equal value.

But to go further: Belgium's national wealth in 1912 was five and a half billions. In 1922 it had increased to twelve billions, which is a gain of over 100 per cent, compared with our gain of seventy per cent. From 1908 to 1912, the wealth of France increased three and a half billion dollars. But from 1912 to 1922 France's wealth increased from fifty-eight and a half billion to ninety billion dollars, or at the rate of over twelve billions every four years.

In other words, to quote again from the National Republic, France is twenty-four and a quarter billions richer than she would have been had her wealth continued to increase from 1912 at only the pre-war rate. And during the ten years beginning in 1912 the wealth of Italy increased sixty per cent.

So it would seem that after all Uncle Sam did not keep pace with her European debtors in percentage increase of wealth during the world struggle.

Flowers Are Real Asset

Pasadena Star-News

California often is designated the land of sunshine, fruit and flowers. California's fruit is a resource which runs into the millions of dollars each year in return to its growers. Appraisal of California climate is a more difficult problem. Climate undoubtedly has both a direct and an indirect influence of inestimable worth upon the development and prosperity of the Golden State. The wide variety of the products of the soil is traceable wholly to California sunshine. Without this sunshine the state would not have the tourist attraction which is capitalized each year to an extent beyond computation.

But what are California's flowers worth? The total value of sales by florists no doubt would present a startling figure, but it would be insignificant in comparison with the wealth of bloom which is seen on desert and hillside, and in cultivated yards and gardens throughout practically all the year.

On the basis of the cost of maintaining a green house in one of the North Central states, every acre of California which will grow roses is worth, in annual production, $32,600. A Chicago newspaper has been making a study of the rose crop in and near that city, and has found that the cost of growing flowers under glass is approximately 75 cents per square foot. Chicago florists modestly refrain from stating how great their profits are, per foot of covered area.

Taking, however, the Chicago rate of cost of growing roses, let any Pasadena resident who is interested in flowers and who cultivates them in his own dooryard, ascertain the value of this possession and privilege.

Probably no confirmed Californian would give up his opportunity to live here, even though he might be offered a rental of 75 cents per square foot per year for his realty holdings, if one of the provisions of the offer required him to live elsewhere.

To furnish roses for Chicago entails the consumption of 1,000,000 tons of coal each winter. Here is another concrete illustration of the advantage of residing in a climate so mild as that found in this Southwestern locality.

In the course of time, no doubt, California will more fully commercialize its flowers. It is not impossible that with the development of aviation, California roses and other blossoms from these fertile lands will be delivered within a day's time from the open fields of this state of luxuriant vegetation to the markets of every great city in America. What a saving this substitution of sun-grown for hot house would afford the coal resources of the United States.

The Hat Doesn't Fit

San Francisco Chronicle

Several persons have nominated themselves as worthy to step into William Jennings Bryan's shoes. The most recent candidate for the mantle of the Commoner is Rev. John Roach Straton of New York.

It is to be feared that Dr. Straton, like his fellow candidates, will fail to qualify for the place. He is estimable and agrees perfectly with Bryan's views on evolution. But piety and sincerity are not enough equipment for leadership. Bryan did not lead because of the causes he advocated, but rather found support for his causes by his advocacy. Men found they could admire Bryan yet disagree with him profoundly. Among his stanchest friends were men who were violently opposed to his every proposal, from free silver to suppression of scientific theories.

It was Bryan's unique talent as a recruiting officer, his ability to lead his followers into a wilderness and out of it again, that stamped him with the seal of greatness. He would not follow where others led, and the one who is willing to follow where Bryan led to that extent falls short of the equipment to take his place.

It is not enough that a man's feet will fit Bryan's shoes. His head must fit Bryan's hat.

Dreams of Autoists Vanish

Stockton Independent

Well! Well! Just as most autoists had their hopes raised by the news that a new synthetic fuel and a new motor was about to be placed on the market, and so revolutionize the automobile industry, the dreams of big savings are dissipated.

Word comes that the elaborate story of the discovery supposed to be told to the Chemical society was a fabrication of the writer, and that no such speech was made before that erudite and cautious organization.

We are still a long way from the time when we shall run our autos on hot air.

The writer of the fake news story of these auto discoveries showed at least that if there was no such invention, he, at least, was an inventor of stories of merit. Unfortunately for the writer, he cannot claim the usual fiction writer's reward, and will have to bear his dishonor in silence. Pity it is that such talent for invention should be wasted when the writer might make a fortune as a new scientific romanticist of the H. G. Wells and Jules Verne school.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

GO SLOW ON HEADACHE "DOPE"

Use of dangerous drugs, described as headache remedies, destroys the nervous system, thereby causing organic lesions and death.

Too few realize that patent medicines may relieve a headache at the expense of some other part of the human system.

Direct or indirect causes of headache are: bad air, fatigue, eye strain, indigestion, constipation, hunger, nasal growths and mouth breathing, hasty eating, lack of sleep and the like.

The causes themselves suggest their remedy or cure. A laxative will remove or remedy a headache caused by indigestion or constipation. Fruits and vegetables, prunes, bran muffins and the like will help. A little olive oil is invaluable.

A little walk early in the morning or after work in the evening will bring relief from headache caused by bad air while eye strain headaches will vanish with a little rest.

Fatigue is a quite common cause of headache, and rest is the only medicine required. Worry, anger and the like provoke headaches which can only be cured by removing the cause and not through the use of headache medicines.

It is better to be cautious in the treatment of headaches than to encourage a drug habit through the continuous use of medicines which contain drugs.

The Divorce Question

The question of divorce is a socio-religious question and is one that strikes directly at the heart of society. Sexual crimes are the specific crimes of advanced civilization, according to Lombroso, Penta, Viazzi and Kraft-Ebing; and Lombroso singles out the remedy of divorce as the most powerful preventive of such crimes. This conclusion appears to be based on Ferri's statistics, which indicate that in Germany and France convictions for sexual crimes were more numerous in districts where divorce did not exist. But, from being a panacea for such crimes, divorce is not even a mild corrective. At least, it has not been so in the United States.

The Chicago vice commission reported that "divorce, to a large extent, is a contributory factor to sexual vice." Dr. Dahms, the California prison chaplain, in his work on "The Criminal," said: "Divorce and crime go hand in hand, and juvenile crime is sheltered beneath its wings."

Ireland, the least criminal nation of Europe, has the fewest divorces.

Throughout all history, licentiousness has as certainly attended upon luxury as luxury has followed upon the heels of wealth. When the tide of materialistic ideas sets in upon nation, chastity is the first of the virtues to be set aside. Will divorce stem the tide? There is reason to believe exactly the contrary. Fifty per cent of the children in our reform schools are the children of divorced parents. Fully seventy-five per cent of juvenile criminals have had bad home environment, and a very large proportion of adult criminals may trace their downfall to the ruined home.

So long as we cannot guarantee infallibility in matrimonial selection the state must and will, within certain limitations and restrictions, recognize divorce. It may minimize, but not prohibit. However, the root of the evil lies not in separation of married couples, but in the causes which induce separation. Influences which destroy the home, whatever they may be, will as certainly destroy alike the individual and the national character.

Worth While Verse

THERE WILL BE SONG

There will be song as long as fairy Spring
Comes dancing on her unseen feet
Up earth's valleys, with her ecstasy Expressed in buds and blossoms sweet.

There will be song as long as men and maids
Find still a challenge that they go Adventuring with Life's deep mysteries,
With faith that love can conquer woe.

There will be song as long as baby hands
Are pressed against a mother's breast,
And babies find, within their mothers' arms,
Love, comfort, shelter, food and rest.

There will be song as long as moonbeams play
On waters decked with mirrored stars,
And waited ships come sailing safely home,
With sails outflung from gallant spars.

As long as human hearts are strong to wage
The fight of right against the wrong;
As long as there are courage, truth and faith,
There will be song, there will be song.

Time to Smile

THIS MAN NO THIEF

A Californian was in a great stew over the shortage of help to harvest his crop. When a tramp stopped by the fence and asked for work, the orange grove owner looked the fellow over doubtfully and finally said: "If I were sure you are honest, I'd give you a job gathering these oranges."

"Honest!" exclaimed the tramp with offended dignity. "I was manager of a public bath for 15 years and never took a single bath."

Little Benny's
Note Book

by Lee Pope

Pop pulled his pen knife out of his pants pocket to sharpen a pencil with and some money came out with it and fell on the floor and rolled around, and pop picked it up again saying, "There's no use leaving this stuff around for people to trip over."

And pritty soon after that I was pretending I was a snake looking for a rabbit and I found a dime laying on its back under the sofa, me thinking, G, good nite, a dime.

And I started to wonder if it was part of what I dropped out of my pocket, thinking, G, wizz, maybe some perfect stranger dropped it a long while ago and its bin there ever since, maybe, how do I know.

And I sed, Hay pop?

Nice weather we bin having, pop sed.

Meaning wat did I wunt, and I sed, I certeny am lucky.

Do you mean I having me for a father? thinking, G, wizz, I mean that too, but I mean in finding things, the last thing I found was a dime, I sed.

That's more than I ever find, I always haff to ern my money by the perspiration of my forehead, pop sed, and I sed, Well is findings keepings, pop?

That depends on wat, ware, and under wich circumstances, pop sed, and I sed, I mean the dime.

O' have you still got it? pop sed, and I sed, Yes, sir, and he sed, Ware did you find it?

Do you mean ickackly? I sed, Precisely, pop sed.

Well I found it under a sofa, I sed.

That sofa? pop sed, and I sed, Yes, sir, and he sed, Wen? and I sed, Jest now.

Eny jury would support my claim to it by circumstanshill evidence, hand it over, pop sed. Which I did, and pop sed, Heers the intrest and the reward all rolled into one.

And he gave me a cent, being better than nothing.

Wonder Fish

Any saunterer on a California beach has a chance to bring in a fish even more wonderful than the marvelous exploring ship Aeturus has just brought into New York from the Sargasso sea.

This is the extreme ocean rarity, the great oarfish—probably one of the prime causes of sea serpent tales. Imagine a gorgeous ribbon of a fish from twenty to thirty feet long, its head crowned by tall crimson plumes. If you saw that creature undulating in the surf wouldn't you be sure it was a sea serpent? And very likely the oarfish was also the origin of the Aztec idea of the plumed serpent which appears so often in the ancient Mexican carvings.

No one has ever caught a live specimen of the great Pacific oarfish. So far as the records go only four or five have ever been seen. But of these, three or four have been found on California beaches, cast up by the sea. Unfortunately all of these were found by ignorant persons, who either destroyed them or refused to let any proper measures be taken for their preservation. A magnificent oarfish, nearly thirty feet long, which came ashore alive at Newport Beach was chopped up by the Mexican who found it.

Therefore, science is very anxious to get hold of a copy. If you come upon an oarfish some day when you are walking on the beach you will have found a great prize.

The bedroom floor is badly worn where kiddie's feet have tramped. The woodwork's of its luster shorn and needs to be revamped. So father buys some paint and shellac, a limber brush or two, and proudly boasts he has the knack of fixing things anew.

The room is cleared of odds and ends, as dad turns to his tasks. His peace and quiet shortly ends, when little sonny asks, "Aw, lemme help ya, will ya dad? Aw, lemme paint a while." The int'rest of the tiny tad just kinda makes dad smile.

So Sonny quickly starts to dip a brush down in the pail. "Be careful" is a kindly tip, and yet to no avail. There's shellac upon his clothing and there's paint splashed on the door. In fact he daubs it every place except upon the floor.

At last the painting's finished and a brand new job's begun, for dad must clean the spots where little sonny's had his fun. When youngsters beg to aid you, never greet them with a frown, unless you're not afraid you'll tear their willing spirit down.

Explorer of the Amazon

Long Beach Sun.

William Curtis Farabee has fallen a victim of his life-work. He chose the Indians of the Amazon jungles as his special study. Amassing as much information as was available in books and scientific reports, he made numerous voyages of exploration in the interior of South America in order to supplement his knowledge of tribal customs and languages. He discovered traces of a civilization that apparently antedated that of the Incas. He studied the languages of mythology of Amazonian tribes that had never before been traced white men. He traced migration of Indians from the north-east coast of South America across the Caribbean to Florida. As a result of his work the world's knowledge of the American Indians has been greatly extended, and the University of Pennsylvania, where for years he was curator of the American section of the museum, is rich through the material which he brought back.

Yet this fate was that of nearly every white man who has penetrated into the interior jungles of South America. Despite all precautions to protect himself from insects, he caught a malignant fever. Like the late Colonel Roosevelt when he visited the same territory, he lost 60 pounds in a few months, and came out desperately ill. Colonel Roosevelt's powers of recuperation were greater and he made a quicker recovery, but he never completely threw off the evil after-effects of his South American sickness. Dr. Farabee was slow in recovering from his first severe attack—10 years ago—but no sooner was he well again than he returned to the jungle. When he came out in 1922 he was again at the point of death, and never regained his strength. Not even the 40 transfusions of blood given him made it possible for him to fight off the peculiar form of anemia which followed the fever.

He knew the peril he faced in returning to the jungle the last time. Already over 50 years of age, his powers of resistance had been weakened by former illness. But to him the call of the jungle

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 16—BUTTONS, A FARTHING A PAIR!

"I will give you some advice," said Mrs. Peter to Juggle Jump and the Twins. "You had better go to everybody in Daddy Gander Land and ask them to show you their button-boxes. We may find some of Puff's buttons there. I shall go to Mrs. John's house first."

So off they went to Pippin Hill to the House-That-Jack-Built. Mrs. John was sitting on her front porch darning Jack's and Jill's stockings.

"When they well down the hill," she explained, "they tore their knees clear out. Where the pieces went to I don't know."

"Why, yes, my dears, I'll look in my button box and see if any stray buttons got in," she said. "Sit down, please, everybody, while I go and get it."

Out came Mrs. John in a few minutes with a button box as big as a drum.

Then she sat down on her rocking chair and dumped the buttons all out into her lap. The Twins pulled their chairs up close.

"My, what a lot of buttons," cried Nancy. "You have almost as many buttons as the Button Store Men."

"Or me," said Juggle Jump proudly displaying his coat. Mrs. John laughed. "You would be a handy person to have around," she said. "If I ran out of buttons I should only have to cut one off you."

"Jack and Jill must lose a lot of buttons," said Nancy. "La me, child!" exclaimed Mrs. John. "It isn't Jack and Jill. It's everybody in the place. I do mending for all the poor folk here who haven't anybody to do it for them. Mrs. Tweedle is sick in bed, so I am doing all the week's mending for Dum and Dee."

"And Jack Horner and Little Tom Tucker, poor waifs, would be in rags if it were not for me. As for Daddy Gander, Mother Goose doesn't stay at home long enough to put a stitch in for him. 'Mother Gander' or 'Gadabout,' I'd call her. 'So I sew all his buttons on and keep him mended up the best I know how.'"

"Where do you get new buttons when you can't match the others?" asked Nancy.

"From Peg Leg, the Peddler," said Mrs. John. "Why here he comes now."

Just then they heard a familiar voice calling out:

"Buttons, a farthing a pair. Come, who will buy them of me? They're round and sound and pretty."

Fit for country-side or city. Come, who will buy them of me, Buttons, a farthing a pair."

"Hello, Mister Peg Leg!" cried Nick as the little peddler approached.

"Hello!" said Peg Leg. "Hello!" said everybody. Except that Mrs. John, being more polite, said "how do you do."

And what do you think! Peg Leg had one of Puff's lost buttons. He had found it in a hay-mow where he had stayed over night. He wouldn't take a cent for it either and gave it right up.

That made ten.
